PRESIDENT TO VETO TAX BILL AGAIN

Taft, Hartley Disagree On Law Provisions

SENATOR SAYS COAL CONTRACT NOT VIOLATION

House Co-Author Of Labor Bill Claim Miners' Pact Flaunts Law

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Taft (R) O., today sharply contradicted charges by Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, that the new coal-wage agreement violates the union control law.

Taft made his statement in response to an assertion by B. C. Forbes, investment counselor, at a meeting of the joint congressional economic committee to study problems of economic stabilization.

Forbes said he believed that the new coal contract "thumbs its nose at the new Taft-Hartley bill."

Taft retorted:

"I don't agree. The whole theory of the bill is that employer and employe should be able to enter in such agreement as they wish. It was designed to insure free collective bargaining."

Taft added:

"I don't think it is a violation of the law. I don't agree that the statistics to say what kind of contract should be made."

• • •

HARTLEY CHARGED that the mine agreement contained at least one violation of the Taft-Hartley act and indicated he would seek a justice department inquiry into the new wage contract.

Forbes maintained that he considered the contract "a de-

GREEK ROUNDUP LANDS 4,000 REDS IN JAIL

ATHENS, July 10—The Greek government dragnet to seize persons involved in a left-wing plot to carry out a coup designed to gain control of the Athens regime resulted today in the arrest of 4,000 Communists.

The additional arrests were announced as Army and police officials pressed their campaign to round up would-be insurrectionists.

Initial arrests which thwarted the planned coup brought some 2,800 arrests.

Deputy Premier Sophocles Venizelos declared that the western allied governments had given their approval to the anti-Communist measures credited with frustrating a coup which had been planned for 1 a. m. today.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The coal contract is effective only when miners are "able and willing to work". Fortunately they have John Lewis to tell them when they're both.

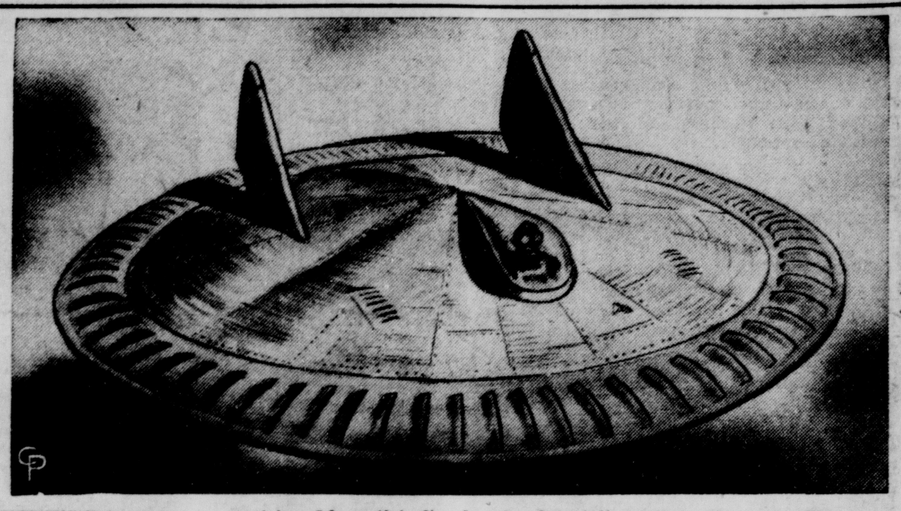

Old John will be a better diagnostician of "clauses contractitis" than Johns Hopkins.

But it's going to look odd to see Lewis bent over a miner, trying his chest with the stethoscope and burning his liver with the cigar.

Miner gets up in the morning and says: "I feel as bouncey as a Bugsey Siegel check today." His wife says "don't be silly, there's a note from the union that you're in terrible pain."

Or he says "I feel terrible today, I don't want to go to work." His wife says "not according to the early morning news — John Lewis said you were able and willing."

'DISC' FINDER REPEATS STORY

First Man To See 'Saucers' Insists He Observed Large Aircraft

PENDLETON, ORE., July 10- The first person to report "flying discs" stood staunchly by his original story today and rejected any suggestion that he might have seen a weather balloon or the exhaust of jet planes. He also declared that only three other people have seen what he witnessed and implied that other "eyewitnesses" of the mysterious aircraft are reporting something else—or nothing at all.

He is Kenneth Arnold, flying businessman of Boise, Idaho, who still refuses to say what he thinks the objects are. He declared:

"I won't make any wild guesses. I'm only telling what I saw."

AFTER COMPLETING a five-hour flight over Oregon and Washington seeking more of the strange aircraft—the latest of several such flights—he denied flatly that they could have been weather balloons.

He expressed belief that the only other authentic reports of the discs have come from Captain E. J. Smith, pilot of a United Airlines plane, and his co-pilot, Ralph Stevens, who reported seeing the things on a flight from Boise to Portland.

The flyers said they called their stewardess, Marty Morrow, Seattle, who saw the same objects.

Arnold declared:

"All three of us agree that the discs are bigger than a DC-3 (a twin-engine passenger plane) and that they were moving at a high rate of speed.

"I actually saw a type of aircraft slightly longer than it was wide, with a thickness about one-twentieth as great as its width.

"I observed them not only with the sun shining on them but

HOUSE RECEIVES ARMED FORCES MERGER MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 10—The long drawn-out fight over unifying the armed services under a single secretary was moved to the house today by overwhelming senate passage of the measure.

In the only roll-call test on the bill, the senate turned down, 52 to 11, an amendment by Sen. McCarthy (R), Wis., that would strengthen safeguards against altering functions of the Marines or naval aviation.

In the house the executive expenditures committee is expected to have a bill completed this week or early next. In section-by-section voting, the house group is following generally the pattern of the senate-passed Gurney bill, favored by President Truman.

Final senate passage was by voice vote, apparently unanimous.

Winchell Claims 'Discs' Flying Wings of Navy

NEW YORK, July 10—Walter Winchell, New York Daily Mirror columnist, wrote today that despite vigorous denials by Army and Navy officials the flying saucers actually are flying wings developed by the U. S. Navy.

Winchell said that they can land at a very low speed — making them good for carriers, and that there "is said to be an entire squadron at Muroc Field, Calif."

He added:

"The above is not rumor—it is a fact, according to 'insiders' who were promised that the source would be protected."

WINCHELL SAID the war department has denied that it knows about the flying discs. He added:

"Many people assume that the Army and Navy department are one and that all of their aerial and scientific developments are joint projects. This is not so. The Navy, I am certain, has its own laboratories for aerial experimentation.

"It is also alleged that in 1943 an American firm (in Chicago) pioneering in jet propulsion planes sent an experimental test ship through the so-called supersonic wall. In other words, in this test flight in 1943 the jet plane traveled with a pilot aboard faster than sound. Thus it supposedly went through the supersonic wall where it was traveling in space ahead of itself.

"While I have no confirmed information on the above, I understand these facts are in existence and that the plane was not heard of again for more than three weeks when it was found crashed somewhere in lower Montana. The pilot was dead. He was 38, but his teeth and body were those of a man of 25. He got younger, not older."

'DISC' THEORY GETS BACKING OF NAVY OFFICER

Theory held by many Circlevilleans and Pickaway countians that the three box-kite-like silver foil-covered six-pointed gadgets discovered on three Pickaway county farms during the past six days are some of the "flying saucers" which have mystified the entire nation was strengthened Thursday.

Lieut. Commander Thomas H. Rentz, of the Chamblee Naval Air Station, Atlanta, Ga., declared there Thursday that he knows the answer to the "flying saucer" mystery.

He said they are "ray winds" or tin foil screens borne aloft by balloons. He said the screens are used to reflect radar rays and determine the velocity of the winds at various altitudes.

He noted that when the balloons reach 25,000 feet they burst. Then the ray winds are borne along by air currents as fast as 165 miles an hour.

After a special demonstration of the officer's theory, reporters declared the "ray winds" look completely round when they reach a high altitude. They also gleam like polished aluminum.

The Atlanta weather bureau declared that "ray winds" are in general use at weather stations in several sections of the country to determine wind velocity.

The weather station described them as a "radio device" which measures the vertical and horizontal angles of sound waves from a target screen. The tin-foil screen reflects the sound of the air currents rebounding against it as it is borne aloft.

BURNING OF CROSS IS BELIEVED TO BE PRANK

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 10 —Officials were inclined today to dismiss as a prank the burning of a fiery cross at Jeddo, a small Negro settlement nine miles north of Steubenville.

However, Sheriff Robert Bates said that two residents of the community reported receiving threatening letters, signed "K.K.K.", which they found in their mailboxes.

FARM SUBSIDY PROGRAM URGED BY ECONOMIST

WASHINGTON, July 10 — An agricultural economist urged a joint congressional committee today to continue farm price supports after the expiration of the present law in 1948.

Theodore W. Schultz, chairman of the University of Chicago economics departments and trustee of the national planning association, testified at hearings of the joint economic committee which is studying problems of economic stabilization.

Schultz said, however, that the price support system should be revised by:

1. Announcing the price support level before farmers have made their production plans.
2. Fixing the level at from 15 to 25 percent under the expected market price at full employment.
3. Permitting market prices to rise above and fall below support prices.
4. Providing for government income payments to farmers when market prices fall below support prices.

MARSHALL TO START SERIES OF CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate foreign relations committee announced today that Secretary of State Marshall will appear before that group tomorrow in the first of a series of "discussions on problems of state."

The closed-door session is expected to deal primarily with the Marshall plan for rehabilitation of Europe, according to committee members.

The announcement stated that the closed conferences with Marshall will "continue next session on regular schedule."

Four Soviet Satellites Decline Aid

LONDON, July 10 — Hungary joined four other Soviet satellite nations today in rejecting the joint British-French invitation to participate in the Paris conference to institute the Marshall aid program for Europe.

The Budapest government declined the bid in an official announcement.

Hungary's rejection followed a fresh charge by Soviet quarters that both Britain and France are carrying out the orders of Washington in plans for Saturday's parley on the Marshall aid program.

The Russians, through the Soviet Tass agency, charged anew that the western alies are seeking to split Europe.

The renewed charges came after three key states in the Soviet Bloc — Poland, Yugoslavia and Romania — turned down invitations to the July 12 Paris parley.

The rejected invitations were balanced by three Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark — who signified their willingness to attend.

These countries, together with others who already have answered in the affirmative, insured the participation, including Britain and France, of 17 powers at the talks to seek European rehabilitation under the Marshall plan.

WEATHER HEADS TOWARD NORMAL

Temperatures Slated To Go Up; Northeastern Ohio Crop Report Gloomy

By International News Serivce

Ohio's weather headed back toward normal today after several days of temperatures about six degrees below average for this time of year.

Forecasters predicted that the upward trend of the mercury would begin this afternoon and gain momentum tomorrow.

Although the forecast included cloudiness and showers and scattered thunderstorms today, tonight and tomorrow, weathermen said the general rain over the state probably has ended.

Every point reporting showed rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. today, and at least two—Cincinnati and Dayton—recorded more than an inch of precipitation.

FROM NORTHEASTERN Ohio came reports indicating one of the state's worst crop failures in more than 35 years as a result of excessive rainfall during the Spring and early Summer.

Arthur Zink, Toledo chairman of the agricultural adjustment administration and operator of a 320-acre farm at Berkey, said Ohio gave evidence of being much harder hit than other states in the mid-western farm belt.

In some sections, according to Zink, only 70 per cent of the normal corn crop was planted this Spring and not more than five per cent of that is likely to mature.

Zink also estimated that only 50 per cent of the tomato crop for commercial canners was planted and only 50 per cent of the sguar beet crop was sowed.

"Farmers need rain and warmer weather badly," the

SOLON DEMANDS NAMES OF ATOM SECRET ROBBERS

Congressionl Committee To Enlarge Security Staff; Sergeants Face Charge

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, declared today that foreign spies are working "24 hours a day" in attempts to steal America's atom bomb secrets.

WASHINGTON, July 10—Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., demanded today that congress be furnished the names of the two former Army sergeants who stole "important documents" from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb laboratory.

Rankin, a member of the house un-American activities committee, told the house:

"I shall insist on getting the names of the two men and see who it is who is trying to undermine this country."

The Mississippian declared that it is "silly" to believe reports that the documents, which Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, said were subsequently recovered by the F.B.I., were taken as souvenirs and were not divulged to anyone else.

RANKIN SAID he is determined to "find out who is behind this movement to take the secrets of the atomic bomb and turn them over to the enemy."

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., committee chairman, told a reporter that continuation of civilian control of the A-bomb is "a threat to the safety of the United States and to the peace of the world."

Thomas declared that the country would be making a "great mistake" in not returning custody of the A-bomb and atomic energy development in general back to the Army.

He explained:

"What I feared is happening. Under the atomic energy commission there is very little security. The A-bomb secrets are no longer safe. I think that situation represents a threat to the safety of the United States and to the peace of the world."

The documents stolen from Los Alamos were taken when the project was under Army control.

• • •

THE CONGRESSIONAL atomic committee was ready today to increase its security staff as the government prepared to prosecute two Army sergeants accused of stealing secret atomic data.

ANGUS SALE AT FAIR PLANNED BY ASSOCIATION

Ross Mooney, Columbus, discussed "control and eradication of insects and parasites in cattle by the use of DDT and allied chemicals" at a meeting of the Pickaway county Aberdeen - Angus association in the extension office Wednesday night.

Mr. Mooney, who used the new chemicals in the Army during the war, explained many uses in the war on pests.

Members of the association decided to hold a sale of registered Angus heifers in connection with the Pickaway county fair. Sale committee includes Merle Hinton, Charles Kreisel and Dean Godden.

The group also voted to contribute $160 toward premiums at the 4-H club show at the fair.

The money will be used as follows; $25 each will be given to the champion steer and heifer, providing they are Angus; $25 each for the reserve champions, if they are Angus, and a $60 prize in the special breeders class.

President Hewitt Cromley presided at the meeting.

Dewey Drive Gains Speed In Missouri

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10— The Dewey drive for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination took on snowball proportions today as the New York governor plunged into strategy conferences with party bigwigs from Kansas and Missouri.

Gov. Dewey, who was greeted by a railroad station crowd of 1,000 persons on his arrival in Kansas City last night from Sapulpa, Okla., was credited with stealing a march on his rivals for the GOP nomination by "beating the bushes" a year in advance.

Dewey will have few minutes to spare today, prior to his late evening departure for Salt Lake City, Utah, where he will attend the annual governors' conference.

In addition to behind-the-doors talks with party leaders in a

DEMOS AFRAID OF VANDENBERG

Michigan Senator Voted As 'Hardest To Beat' For President In 1948

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan was disclosed today to have won a poll of congressional Democrats as the Republican who would be "hardest to beat" in the 1948 presidential election.

The poll was conducted by the magazine, Pageant.

While the Democrats may fear Vandenberg the most, Republicans on capitol hill still report Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as the present favorite for their nomination next year.

Among Republicans, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio continues in second place. Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota also has his Republican followers.

HOWEVER, many Republicans talk about a "dark horse". The names mentioned most frequently in this category are house speaker Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, of Kansas.

The Pageant poll drew answers from 119 out of 233 Democrats in the house and senate. They were asked:

"As a Democrat, which Republican would you least like to see nominated for the presidency next year? In other words, which man would be hardest to beat?"

The Democrats voted:

Vandenberg 58; Dewey, 18; Gov. Earl Warren, of California, 11; Taft, 10; Sen. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, 9; Stassen, 9; Martin, 3, and Eisenhower, 1.

GROMYKO FAILS IN UN MOVE TO BLOCK AUSTRIA

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 10—Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko failed today in an attempt to block consideration by the security council of the application of Austria for membership in the United Nations.

After discussion of the technical aspects of the question, Chairman Oscar Lange of Poland referred Austria's application to the membership committee.

Gromyko argued that the peace treaty with Austria has not been signed, and is not even ready for signing. He said Austria's position is different from that of Italy and Hungary whose treaties are in the process of ratification.

PRESIDENT MAY CALL CONGRESS BACK IN FALL

Special Session On Marshall Aid Plan Possible; Politics Dismissed

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman bluntly asserted today that he will again veto the new tax reduction bill now before the senate.

The President told a news conference that he did not see any reason why this attitude toward the Republican sponsored tax-reduction program should change.

He said if the congress sends him the bill similar to the one he vetoed June 16 he will veto it again.

THE PRESIDENT also announced he will call a special session of congress this Fall if legislation is necessary to put the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe in effect.

The President told newsmen he must await the outcome of the Paris conference of European nations to determine whether a special session will be necessary.

Mr. Truman said he does not see any necessity now for a special session, but that he will issue such a call if developments on the Marshall plan warrant.

THE PRESIDENT said he will meet with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders Monday for a lengthy discussion of the European situation.

He said the main topic he wishes to discuss is action on his request that this country's doors be opened to "a substantial number" of the one million displaced persons now in the occupation zones of western Europe.

The President denied reports that he was summoning the congressional leaders to the White House for the main purpose of discussing the Marshall plan.

He said, however, that if the matter is brought up in connection with the discussion on displaced persons, he may go into it.

THE PRESIDENT ruled out for the present any political speechmaking trip through the west this Fall, or even next Spring.

He said no plans have been made for any trip anywhere.

Mr. Truman said, however,

TAX REDUCTION BILL MAY PASS SENATE FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The GOP bill to give taxpayers a cut next January 1 reached the senate floor a day ahead of schedule today with Republican leaders claiming they need only three more votes to override a presidential veto.

Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., acting majority leader, said he was "sure" the majority has 60 votes for his party's second try at writing the four billion dollar tax relief measure into law this year. A minimum of 63 votes is needed to override a veto.

But the outcome on veto test No. 2 was clouded by mushrooming Democratic support for amendments to boost personal exemptions and permit splitting of incomes by husbands and wives.

Wherry said he was hopeful that the 10-½ to 30 percent tax reduction bill, approved yesterday by the senate finance committee, would pass the senate by Friday night.

TWO HURT IN CRASH

LOGAN, O., July 10 — Jack Hane, 32, Lancaster, and Joe Sinnott, 28, Union Furnace, were recovering today from injuries received when a training plane crashed on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks at Union Furnace yesterday. Authorities said the plane belonged to a Lancaster flying service. Hane, pilot of the craft, was giving a lesson to Sinnott. Hane said mechanical failure caused the crash.

SENATOR SAYS COAL CONTRACT NOT VIOLATION

vice to nullify the law."

Taft replied:

"I don't know any provision of the bill that the contract tries to get around. There are many things in the contract that show a direct effort to comply with the law."

Taft commented, however, that so liberal a contract might not be wise from the owners' or the public's standpoint. He said that it was up to the employers to say whether they believe the contract an unfair labor practice but remarked that the mine owners apparently did not wish to contest the agreement on those grounds.

HARTLEY CHARGED that the mine agreement contained at least one clear violation of the Taft-Hartley labor act and other examples of "collusion with the intention of violating the law."

The New Jersey congressman said he was "waiting to see whether the justice department will act of its own volition."

Ezra Van Horn, Cleveland, a spokesman for northern coal producers, and representatives of the United Mine Workers union declined to comment on Hartley's charges.

A southern coal operator, L. E. Tierney, Bluefield, W. Va., president of the Eastern Coal Corp., said:

"The contract obviously was signed under duress. It may very well be a violation. Congressmen Hartley could be right or wrong. We've had no opportunity so far to study the question."

Hartley's charges came as more than 200 AFL executives met in Washington to plan the federation's campaign to challenge the new labor law in the courts, to work for its repeal and to defeat congressional sponsors of the act in the 1948 elections.

THE LEADERS of the AFL's 7,500,000 members unanimously adopted a resolution declaring:

"The Taft-Hartley act is a strike and strife-provoking act. It will serve to prevent the workers from agreeing to incorporate a no-strike pledge in written contracts. It means the end of sound labor-management relations and the substitute therefor of distrust, duspicion and class hatred."

Hartley charged that the provision in the new coal contract providing for the check-off of initiation fees and assessments of the miners' union is a clear violation of the law.

As an example of "collusion", Hartley cited a provision in the contract asserting that the agreement is effective only when the miners "are willing and able to work". This was designed to safeguard the union from damage suits for breach of contract under the new labor law.

JURY TO DECIDE RESISTING CASE

Second Trial Of Miss Rife Being Held In Common Pleas Court

Guilt or innocence of Miss Mae Kathryn Rife, 28, Walnut township, Route 1, Ashville, indicted on a charge of resisting arrest, was to be determined Thursday afternoon by a jury in Pickaway county common pleas court.

The trial began Thursday morning with Judge William Radcliff presiding. The jury is composed of six men and six women. Miss Rife was tried Wednesday before Judge Radcliff under a second count in the indictment accusing her of reckless driving. Judge Radcliff said he had his decision under advisement.

Constable Paul R. Wellington and Deputy Constable Harold Myers testified they made three trips to the Rife farm on May 19, 1947, to take Miss Rife into custody on a warrant issued from the court of Justice of the Peace Elmer Malone charging Miss Rife with reckless driving in Ashville on May 18.

CONSTABLE Wellington told the jury that Miss Rife read the warrant and then refused to submit to arrest, and that later she procured an attorney and posted bond in Justice Malone's court.

Miss Rife from the witness chair insisted that when she drove home from church May 19 Constable Wellington was in the yard, that he told her he had a "paper" for her but that the officer never removed the warrant from his pocket and that he never told her she was "under arrest."

Testimony aimed to substantiate her version of the affair was given by her mother, Mrs. Clara Rife, and her brother, Howard Rife. Miss Rife was represented in court by Attorney Lyman Brownfield, Columbus.

Under cross-examination by County Prosecutor Kenneth Robbins, Miss Rife denied that she refused to enter Justice Malone's court and that she signed the bond in her car. She admitted, however, that she stated in the office of Sheriff Charles Radcliff, in the presence of the sheriff and prosecutor, that she intended to "tear up the bond." Miss Rife denied that she at that time said she had refused to submit to arrest by Constable Wellington.

MISS RIFE admitted, under cross-examination, that on May 17, in Ashville, Constable Wellington ordered her to report at 9 a. m. May 18 in Justice Malone's court on a charge of reckless driving. It was testified by state's witnesses at Wednesday's trial that Miss Rife drove more than 60 miles an hour on Main street, Ashville, the morning of May 17.

Admission was made from the witness chair by Miss Rife that she told the constable "I won't be there." As to the bond she said the amount—$1,000 on the resistance charge and $200 for reckless driving—fixed by Justice Malone was "too high."

Presentation of testimony ended at 11:30 a. m. and Judge Radcliff then recessed court until p. m. Following arguments of opposing counsel and the charge of the court the jurors were to begin their deliberations.

ARNOLD SAID the nine objects flying in formation first drew his attention when he thought they were jet planes. It was June 24, and he was taking time from a business flight to look for a Marine transport lost in the Mount Rainier area since December.

He reiterated that he has sent a full description of the objects and a drawing of them to Army authorities at Wright Field, Ohio.

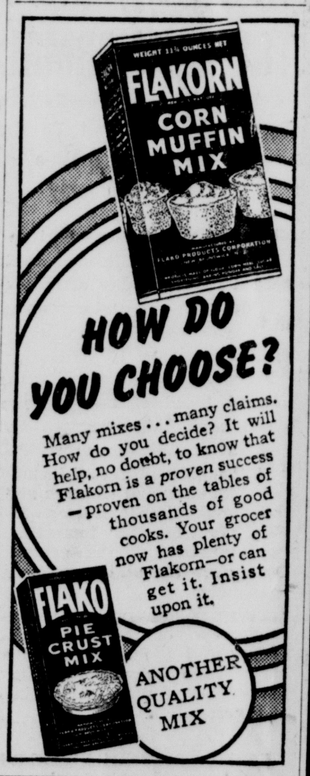

Arnold has a moving picture camera with him as he stalks the weird craft so that if he manages to encounter them again he can take pictures. But, he remarked ruefully:

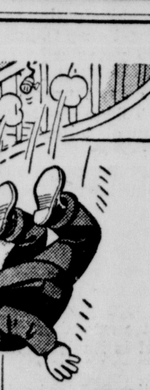

"I haven't seen anything unusual since then—not even a weather balloon."

that the invitation of the Brazilian government to visit Brazil is still under contemplation.

Asked about reports that atomic secrets had been stolen the President said that Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, had explained the situation clearly and that he is willing to accept the senator's explanation as he gave it to congress.

He did not seem perturbed about the reports.

The President declined to comment on a question about political arrests in Greece. He was asked what his attitude was and he said he had no attitude.

The President declined also to comment on the new coal contract negotiated between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators.

SENATE COMMITTEE IN APPROVAL OF REP. JONES

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate commerce committee today unanimously recommended confirmation of President Truman's appointment of Rep. Robert F. Jones (R) Ohio, to the federal communications commission.

By a vote of 13 to 0, the committee brushed aside accusations touched off by columnist Drew Pearson that Jones once was a member of the anti-Negro, anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic Black Legion.

TRUMAN GETS PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION BILL

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The house today approved and sent to the White House a bill which would make Speaker Joe Martin the chief executive in case of the death of President Truman.

The new presidential succession measure puts the speaker first in line for the presidency in case of the incapacity of the president or vice president. Next comes the president pro-tem of the senate and then cabinet officials, beginning with the secretary of state.

The senate has already approved the bill and inasmuch as President Truman recommended enactment of such a change in White House succession, his approval is forecast.

It is the first revision of the presidential succession law in 61 years.

vealed that the committee probably will enlarge its three-man staff assigned to study security measures by "50 to 100 percent."

Hickenlooper's statement came after disclosure that the atomic committee senators have been disturbed within the last several weeks by world developments of "vital importance."

It also followed the report that the justice department plans to bring to trial the two souvenir-hunting sergeants who allegedly stole top-secret atomic "documents' from the Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories.

An informed source said that the "documents," which were recovered, were photographs and that one of the unidentified sergeants accused of stealing them was an Army photographer.

NEW TRADES IN JAPAN FEATURE RECOVERY DAYS

Cigaret Butt Picking One Of Most Profitable Jobs In Tokyo

TOKYO, July 10—A Japanese in Tokyo can make more money picking cigaret butts off the streets than he can working as a clerk or secretary for the government or a business house.

The tobacco from the cigaret ends Americans toss on the streets is an important commodity in Japan, and one Japanese who works hard at the task of picking up the butts can earn as much as 300 yen a day.

Street scavenging is only one of the many strange trades Japanese have been forced to accept to maintain existence in the chaos of the postwar economic life of the nation.

THE TOKYO economic daily, "Nihon Keizai," listed some of the strange ways Japanese have adopted to earn a living. Among them was: Shoemakers in Okayama Prefecture, near Hiroshima, were so short of leather that they substituted dried cuttle fish for their repair work.

"A few customers," said the newspaper, "returned and complained that their shoes had been bitten up by rats."

In Tokyo, which has a flourishing taxi-dance business, the flower girls and the taxi dancers have united in a little racket which is profitable and doesn't hurt anyone.

Patrons of the dancehalls like to buy flowers for their favorite dancing partners. The dancers accept the flowers, usually in corsage form, wear them as long as the patron is in the hall, and sell them back to the flower girls after he leaves.

"In two or three days" reported Jiji Press "the original stock of one dozen bouquets would bring 200 yen to 300 yen profit in cash.

Japan is a nation of queues because of the great shortage of every type of consumer commodity. A man in Moji City, on Kyushu, makes 300 yen a day by standing in line for people who want anything from a package of cigaretes to a railroad ticket, a handful of rationed rice to a ticket to a movie.

His commissions total about nine thousand yen a month. A good newspaperman working for a Japanese newspaper or agency is lucky to make three thousand yen.

One such newspaperman, working on a part time basis, receives 2595 yen through a series of dodges designed to sidestep the government regulations restricting incomes. The regulations were ordered to fight inflation, but they failed and employers have been obliged to disregard the laws to give their workers enough money to live.

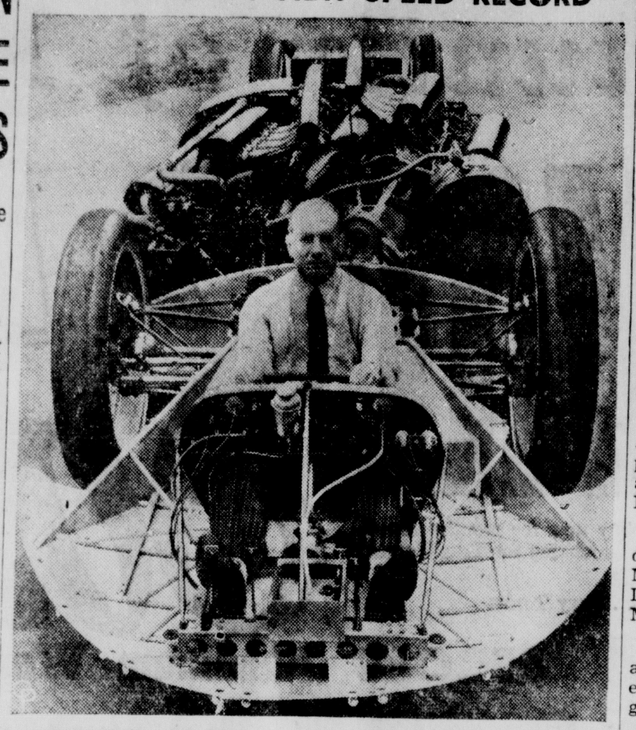

The newspaper does it this way:

Basic salary 875 yen, commodity allowance 525 yen, family allowance (husband) 250 yen, (wife) 100 yen, first assignment 150 yen, second assignment 520 yen, special allowance 175 yen, total 2595 yen.

The reporter said he doesn't know what either of the assignments or the special allowance are for.

The Dominican Republic has 14 principal crops, which account for more than half the total agricultural income. They are plantains and bananas, sugar cane, avocados, rice, cacao, coffee, yuca, mangos, dried beans and peas, sweet potatoes, corn and oranges.

TO ATTEMPT NEW SPEED RECORD

FAMOUS BRITISH DRIVER John Cobb sits in the "made-to-measure" racing car in which he plans to drive to a new world's speed record on Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah. The car is shown in Brooklands, England, without the one piece body which is placed over it when the driver is in position. Cobb holds the present record of 369.7 M.P.H. (International)

Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, was incorporated in 1867, several years before its founder, John Hopkins', death. In 1870 the first board of trustees was created. Early in 1874 the trustees began the organization, and at the end of that year elected Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman as president. He began his duties in 1876.

QUAKE RECORDED

NEW YORK, July 10—Fordham University's seismograph today picked up a "sharp" earthquake which occurred 2,300 miles southeast of New York probably off Mexico.

RUBINOFF WILL SAY HE DID NOT TRICK MOTHER

PITTSBURGH, July 10—Violinist Dave Rubinoff announced today he would fly to Pittsburgh from Encino, Calif., to deny charges he had tricked his partially-blind mother into signing over to him the luxurious home he purchased for her 17 years ago.

Mrs. Rubinoff filed suit in Pittsburgh common pleas court yesterday against the one-time Pittsburgh newsboy.

The suit charges that last June 6 Rubinoff took his 85-year-old mother before a notary and induced her to sign a paper which he had explained would give him possession of the home after her death.

Mrs. Rubinoff learned later, however, the suit charged, that on June 7 he had recorded a deed turning the property over to him.

The suit also alleged that shortly afterward, advertisements appeared in Pittsburgh newspapers offering "Rubinoff's house for sale," and that many prospective buyers had appeared at the home.

COLUMBUS, O.—Based on the early entries of high school bands, choruses and special musical numbers, as well as entries of community musical organizations, the 1947 Ohio State Fair, August 23-29 should be the most musical in history.

To date more than 20 Ohio high school bands have indicated they will take part in the musical program at the Fair. At least a dozen community choruses and other special musical organizations have entered and Mrs. Lottie Randolph, assistant director of agriculture, states that more entries are coming in each day.

A DAILY program will feature Music Hall, with bands appearing in the new band shell which State Fair Manager Ed Bath has announced will be erected just east of the women's building.

Church choirs, 4-H club bands and "barbershop quartets" also are expected to participate in addition to the school musical groups.

Helen E. Holscher, well known civic musical director, will be in charge of the Music Hall programs and Edith Keller, state music supervisor, state department of education, will be in charge of the band shell programs. They will be assisted by other well known musical directors.

Brehmers suggest that you spray your evergreens now with four level tablespoons of arsenate of lead to one gallon of soft water to kill bag worms. Evergreens need to be trimmed occasionally for best appearances and this should be done about the middle of July. If you are bothered with red spider, spray your evergreens with a strong force of water every week. This will do more good than any of the special spray preparations. —ad.

'BLACK PANTHER' BEING SOUGHT NEAR WARREN

WARREN, O., July 10—Searching parties were organized today in nearby Bloomfield township to track down a reported "black panther" that was terrorizing residents of the area.

State highway patrolmen combed the wooded area in the Bloomfield sector yesterday but found nothing but sets of unidentified tracks.

Orville Earl told the police that the animal was a panther. He said he had "seen them before." Another resident of the area who reportedly spotted the "panther" was Alfred Carlson, who said he fired a shot at the "cat."

Many others have insisted they heard the animal scream in the night. Dogs were being pressed into service to aid in the organized hunt of the woods.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Fish Bites Woman!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together — whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.

GERMANS AT IT AGAIN

AFTER World War I, the Germans carried out a well-planned campaign to get sympathy from their victors, particularly England. Now they are starting operations along the same line, according to the British Zone Review, official newspaper of the British military government, quoted by Wallace R. Deuel.

Germans accuse the British of "bleeding Germany" of coal for reparations, while in fact, no coal has been used for that purpose. It has been apportioned among German railroads, ports and river boats, and exported to pay for food and other necessities for the Germans themselves. Only 4.1 per cent of the coal production is used by the occupation authorities.

Another gripe of the argumentative Germans is on the prisoner-of-war question. The war, for which the Germans take no responsibility, left desolation and starvation in its wake, and, directly or indirectly, thousands of German prisoners must work to produce food to allay this starvation. This necessity is described in occupied Germany as utilizing "slave labor".

The solution of the problem might be a well-organized publicity program, setting forth in clear terms the objectives of the occupying countries, and the methods of their achievement. If this were done in widespread manner, it could be used to silence arguments, and if the truth were hammered in hard enough, a few stubborn Germans might even by convinced.

THE LABOR LAW

WITH ALL the hue and cry against the new labor law by labor, and endorsement of it by employers, one might think that unionism had received a death blow, employers despotic control over workers and government interference with both had ended. It is becoming increasingly apparent that nothing like this will be the result.

Unions continue strong. Strikes will occur. Wages will continue, in many instances, to go up. But the day is over when a union leader has more authority in an industry than the owner. The employer can have something to say about hiring and firing.

Nevertheless neither the union nor the employers is to be free from government policing. In fact this is to be increased for both sides. Union leadership is going to find government dictates as hard to take as the employer group did in the past. The difference, as a result of the new law, is that both, instead of management only, have their actions prescribed by law.

In general then, the law becomes a kind of compromise. It is something between the easy life employers knew around the turn of the century and the arbitrary powers unions have developed in the last decade. How good it is can only be told by trying. Ask us a year from now.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 10 — General Marshall appears to his friends to have been worried lately. So is all the state department crowd. The Paris conference confirmed the worst about the Soviets. Not only are they against peace, they are opposed to restoring stability. They are against the western powers even aiding Europe further. Officially, they have presented this deliberate position. Consequently nearly everyone now realizes Russia has become bolder in promoting a not very subtle revolution to establish world Communism. They will block anything which interferes, and cooperate only with ventures furthering their revolutionary cause.

This projects a somewhat new field for diplomatic operations. We are the only power big enough to resist profitably. So we expect to get the brunt. Yet no official here is planning anything sensational or different from what we have been doing, as far as the reporters know. We have committed ourselves for nearly $20 billion (yes, billions) of aid abroad since the war; Bretton Woods $6 billion; British loan $3.7 billion; export-import bank $3.5 billion; UNRRA and lend-lease postwar settlement $2 billion apiece; Germany and Japan $1.5 billion; new direct relief $750 million.

Marshall said in his women's press speech we had sent $9 billion of goods to Europe, but this only a part of our aid expenditures. Incidentally, his speech sounded much more forceful in delivery than in print because of the emphasis he gave his main point that from this aid we have received more criticism than appreciation.

At any rate the bankers say $20 billion is enough unless we want to ruin our own economy. But Harold Stassen who is thinking aloud a lot on international affairs, has been doing some thinking off the record that we are in another critical European relief period now. His associates quote him as saying congress will have to hold a special session to appropriate more money unless it writes out a blank check for, say, another half billion and leaves it behind in Mr. Truman's hands. Mr. Truman says only he thinks there will be a continuation of this session beyond adjournment date into August.

Stassen seems to have a hoe in the administration furrow, however. His friends are pointing out his Iowa speech about giving Europe 10 percent of our production, helped work the soil up (along with speeches by Vandenberg, Hoover, Cohen, Acheson and others) for the Marshall plan of promoting European self-aid.

In all this, Marshall seems to be a leveler. He is not freewheeling on "internationally minded" skates. Nor has he cringed when anyone said "fascism", or "isolationist", or "boo". He seems to want to let things develop to see what is necessary, and then to do it, without any preconceived fastidious or isolated notions that it should be done thus and so, and only he can do it. Consequently new policies like the Rhur restoration loan are developing slowly and carefully.

Migraine Is a Challenging Problem of Modern Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MIGRAINE with its devastating one-sided headaches, is one of the most perplexing of the problems of present-day medicine.

Just why certain apparently well people should be subjected to these periodic attacks of violent headache, nausea and vomiting is not definitely known but there does seem a tendency for this disorder to run in families.

Majority of Cases

In the majority of cases, migraine develops before the age of 20 and only rarely does it persist beyond 60. This, together with the well-known fact that many women suffer from attacks just before or during the regular periods, has led to the theory that the disorder might be due to some disturbance of the glands of internal secretions, since these internal secretions are known to govern growth, the onset of maturity and old-age.

But while definite proof of this and all other ideas concerning the cause of the disorder are lacking, there is still much that can be done to relieve it.

Treating the Condition

Drs. Hugo T. Engelhardt, of Houston, Texas, and Vincent J. Derbes, of New Orleans, Louisiana, have outlined the procedure which they follow in treating patients with this condition. When the attack occurs, the patient is put to bed in a dark, quiet, well-ventilated room, and an ice pack is put on the painful area. If possible, the patient is given oxygen to breathe. They have found that this relieves 40 per cent of those suffering an attack. They then give a preparation known as ergotamine tartrate either by injection into a vein, under the skin, or by mouth. The dose used is that which is just sufficient to relieve the pain. The doctor will determine just what this is.

If sickness to the stomach and vomiting occur after the injection is given into the vein, a product known as atropine is administered. Sometimes, muscular cramps also develop which are relieved by massage. Ergotamine cannot be used in persons who have disorders affecting the arteries. If the attack continues, it may be necessary to give a mixture of glucose and salt solution by injection into the vein.

As a general rule, the physician does not treat an attack of migraine with a narcotic, such as morphine, but a sedative, or quieting drug, may be used with benefit.

Contributing Factors

While the basic over-all cause of migraine has yet to be discovered, it is sometimes possible to find factors which contribute to its occurrence in individual cases. For instance, some persons may be oversensitive to some food. If the foods to which they are sensitive can be found and eliminated from the diet, the attacks may cease.

In certain cases, glandular disturbances such as lack of secretion from the thyroid, the ovaries, or the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, may be factors. Treatment with glandular extracts may therefore be found to be useful.

People afflicted with migraine usually have a high intelligence and are very conscientious. Thus their work is usually of the exacting and responsible kind which brings nervous tension to a height. If these people can avoid strain and emotional upsets, their attacks, in many cases, will be less frequent.

The HOLLOW by Agatha Christie

Copyright, 1946, by Agatha Christie Mallowan Distributed by King Features Syndicate

SYNOPSIS

Among the week-end guests Lady Lucy Angkatell had invited to The Hollow were attractive Dr. John Christow and his dull, plain-looking wife, Gerda. The others, all members of the Angkatell clan, were: Kindly Henrietta Savernake, successful sculptress; young Midge Hardcastle, who supported herself by working in one of London's swank dress shops; David Angkatell, university student, and quiet Edward Angkatell, whose unrequitted love of Henrietta made him unaware that Midge had long adored him. Unknown to anyone, Henrietta and John Christow had fallen deeply in love. Prior to leaving for Lucy's, John sat in his Harley Street office trying to fathom the mood of discontent which engulfed him, while upstairs, Gerda and the children patiently awaited his appearance for lunch. His thoughts went back to an earlier chapter in his life, when he had been madly in love with glamorous Veronica Cray, motion picture actress. He had broken their engagement when she refused to give up her career, and later had married Gerda, whose slavish devotion had left him free to pursue his beloved profession. In Henrietta he had found the intelligent understanding which Gerda lacked. Recently, when exhausted after a difficult session with old Mrs. Crabtree, his favorite clinic patient, he had stopped off at her studio. He was annoyed, however, when he recognized Gerda as the model used for Henrietta's latest masterpiece, The Worshiper. Meanwhile, in the dining room, Gerda contemplated the cooling roast, and the coming week-end, with equal despair. She did not like the Angkatells and felt awkward and uncomfortable in their company. John's arrival banished her unhappy thoughts. While Gerda packed, their small daughter, Zena, insisted on telling John's fortune with cards. When she solemnly announced the queen of hearts still held power over him, he immediately thought of Veronica, whom he had not seen for fifteen years. At The Hollow, Lucy's husband, Sir Henry, chats with Midge about Ainswick, Edward's estate. Henrietta arrived in time for lunch, and later accepts Edward's invitation to take a stroll.

CHAPTER TWELVE

EDWARD'S VOICE changed a little.

"Do you want to be peaceful, Henrietta?"

"Sometimes I think I want to be peaceful more than anything in the world, Edward!"

"You could be peaceful at Ainswick. . . . I think you could be happy there. Even—even if you had to put up with me. What about it, Henrietta? Won't you come to Ainswick and make it your home? It's always been there, you know, waiting for you."

Henrietta turned her head slowly. She said in a low voice:

"I wish I wasn't so dreadfully fond of you, Edward. It makes it so very much harder to go on saying no."

"It is no, then?"

"I'm sorry."

"You've said no before—but this time—well, I thought it might be different. You've been happy this afternoon, Henrietta. You can't deny that."

"I've been very happy."

"Your face even—it's younger than it was this morning."

"I know."

"We've been happy together, talking about Ainswick, thinking about Ainswick. Don't you see what that means, Henrietta?"

"It's you who don't see what it means, Edward! We've been living all this afternoon in the past."

"The past is sometimes a very good place to live."

"One can't go back. That's the one thing one can't do—go back."

He was silent for a minute or two. Then he said in a quiet, pleasant and quite unemotional voice:

"What you really mean is that you won't marry me because of John Christow."

Henrietta did not answer, and Edward went on:

"That's it, isn't it? If there were no John Christow in the world you would marry me."

Henrietta said harshly, "I can't imagine a world in which there was no John Christow! That's what you've got to understand."

"If it's like that, why on earth doesn't the fellow get a divorce from his wife and then you could marry?"

"John doesn't want to get a divorce from his wife. And I don't know that I should want to marry John if he did. It isn't—it isn't the least like you think."

Edward said in a thoughtful, considering way:

"John Christow. . . . There are too many John Christows in this world . . ."

"You're wrong," said Henrietta. "There are very few people like John . . ."

"If that's so—it's a good thing! At least, that's what I think!"

He got up. "We'd better go back again."

As they got into the car and Lewis shut the front door of the Harley Street house, Gerda felt the pang of exile go through her. That shut door was so final. She was barred out—this awful weekend was upon her. And there were things, quite a lot of things, that she ought to have done before leaving. Had she turned off that tap in the bathroom? And that note for the laundry—she'd put it—where had she put it? Would the children be all right with Mademoiselle? Mademoiselle was so—so— Would Terence, for instance, ever do anything that Mademoiselle told him to? French governesses never seemed to have any authority.

She got into the driving seat, still bowed down by misery, and nervously pressed the starter. She pressed it again and again. John said, "The car will start better, Gerda, if you switch on the engine."

"Oh, dear, how stupid of me." She shot a quick alarmed glance at him. If John was going to be annoyed straight away— But to her relief he was smiling.

That's because, thought Gerda, with one of her flashes of acumen, he's so pleased to be going to the Angkatells'.

Poor John, he worked so hard! His life was so unselfish, so completely devoted to others. No wonder he looked forward to this long week-end. And, her mind harking back to the conversation at lunch, she said, as she let in the clutch rather too suddenly so that the car leaped forward from the curb:

"You know, John, you really shouldn't make jokes about hating sick people. It's wonderful of you to make light of all you do, and I understand. But the children don't. Terry, in particular, has such a very literal mind."

"There are times," said John Christow, "when Terry seems to me almost human—not like Zena! How long do girls go on being a mass of affectation?"

Gerda gave a little, quite sweet laugh. John, she knew, was teasing her. She stuck to her point. Gerda had an adhesive mind.

"I really think, John, that it's good for children to realize the unselfishness and devotion of a doctor's life."

"Oh Lord!" said Christow.

Gerda was momentarily deflected. The traffic lights she was approaching had been green for a long time. They were almost sure, she thought, to change before she got to them. She began to slow down. . . . Still green.

John Christow forgot his resolutions of keeping silent about Gerda's driving and said, "What are you stopping for?"

"I thought the lights might change—"

She pressed her foot on the accelerator, the car moved forward a little, just beyond the lights, then, unable to pick up, the engine stalled. The lights changed.

The cross traffic hooted angrily. John said, but quite pleasantly: "You really are the worst driver in the world, Gerda!"

"I always find traffic lights so worrying. One doesn't know just when they are going to change."

John cast a quick sideways look at Gerda's anxious, unhappy face.

Everything worries Gerda, he thought, and tried to imagine what it must feel like to live in that state. But since he was not a man of much imagination, he could not picture it at all.

"You see," Gerda stuck to her point, "I've always impressed on the children just what a doctor's life is—the self-sacrifice, the dedication of oneself to helping pain and suffering—the desire to serve others. It's such a noble life—and I'm so proud of the way you give your time and energy and never spare yourself—"

John Christow interrupted her. "Hasn't it ever occurred to you that I like doctoring—that it's a pleasure, not a sacrifice! Don't you realize that the blamed thing's interesting!"

But no, he thought, Gerda would never realize a thing like that! If he told her about Mrs. Crabtree and the Margaret Russell Ward she would only see him as a kind of angelic helper of the Poor with a capital P.

"Drowning in treacle," he said under his breath.

"What?" Gerda leaned toward him.

He shook his head.

If he were to tell Gerda that he was trying to "find a cure for cancer," she would respond—she could understand a plain sentimental statement. But she would never understand the peculiar fascination of the intricacies of Ridgeway's disease—he doubted if he could ever make her understand what Ridgeway's disease actually was. (Particularly, he thought with a grin, as we're not really quite sure ourselves! We don't really know why the cortex degenerates!)

But it occurred to him suddenly that Terence, child though he was, might be interested in Ridgeway's disease. He had liked the way that Terence had eyed him appraisingly before stating: "I think Father does mean it."

Terence had been out of favor the last few days for breaking the Cona coffee machine—some nonsense about trying to make ammonia. . . . Ammonia? Funny kid, why should he want to make ammonia? Interesting in a way.

Gerda was relieved at John's silence. She could cope with driving better if she were not distracted by conversation. Besides, if John was absorbed in thought, he was not so likely to notice that jarring noise of her occasional forced changes of gear.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, July 10

THE indications are for an exceptional, possibly dramatic opportunity for advancement, progress, preferment and all forms and tactics for materializing the fondest hopes and wishes. There should be a united and concentrated marshalling of all talents, resources and faculties on this goal, which should not be in any measure complicated by unwise conduct, which might offend and negative, friendly cooperation. Courtesy, finesse, possibly a bit of connivance might advance business and romantic happiness.

Birthday Forecast

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of outstanding prosperity, progress and fulfillments of high goals and objectives, if they will attack openings with concentrated skill, ingenuity and faculties, also forethought. A social or business error, careless disagreement, or lack of a sense of duty, in personal or business life, might exact penalties. Work on old and new propositions with tact, courtesy, and graciousness, even with a dash of compromise or subtle collusion, should such be of sound value.

A child born on this day has excellent prospects of a progressive and happy life.

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONDONING AN OFFENSE

THERE ARE many kinds of situations in which it is wise to condone an irregularity of bidding, leading or playing by an opponent. Since none of them occurs very often, however, few players ever think seriously of condoning them, but prefer one of the several other options, which impose penalties for the offense. One time that condoning may be wise is when an opponent has made an insufficient bid. If you have a rebiddable suit in a none-too-strong hand, this affords you a chance to rebid it at a lower level than if you insisted on the irregular bid being made sufficient.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥
Pass	2 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

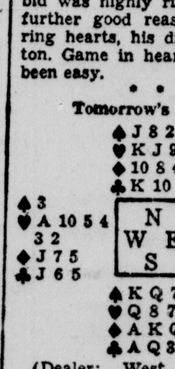

Notice West's insufficient bid of 2-Diamonds on the second round over the 2-Spades by South, who might better have bid 2-No Trumps then. Under the Laws, West's left-hand opponent, North, had the option of condoning the insufficiency or obligifig West to make his bid sufficient. He selected the option of condoning it, so that he could rebid his hearts at a low enough level to allow his side plenty of space for more bidding. By doing this, he enabled his partner to know that his suit was of at least five cards and that three little ones would be adequate support.

At this stage, South's best bid would have been 3-Hearts, which North would have taken to game in that suit. But South, who fancies his own playing ability, and was impressed by the value of having a lead come up to one of his minor suit kings, preferred 2-No Trumps. North properly took that to 3-No Trumps, since his suit was the kind which should net a goodly number of tricks at No Trumps.

West smartly led his diamond Q in the hope of finding East with the A. He did, and that worthy had sense enough to return the club Q, so the contract was set two tricks in a hurry. Had South held the A of one minor and the K in the other, that could not have been done to him, but with kings in both his bid was highly risky. He had a further good reason for preferring hearts, his diamond doubleton. Game in hearts would have been easy.

What phase of the Blackwood convention is vital to North and South on this deal in bidding which shows the fitting diamond suit, but makes 5-No Trumps the desirable contract?

Industry Catching Up With Goods Shortages | Hot Tip for Tipplers: Scotch Price May Drop

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The speed with which American industry is working to catch up with war-inspired deficiencies is clearly evident in government reports, which show about 10 billion dollars have been added to the book-value of business inventories since the middle of 1946.

The increase reflects both higher costs and greater physical stocks. Business inventories, however, are reported still below pre-war levels in relation to sales.

Inadequate stocks in some areas are said to more than offset a few surpluses elsewhere.

The Commerce department adds that the present almost-feverish attempt to fill the gap in supplies cannot be expected to continue long because remaining deficiencies are, in general, much less urgent than a few months ago.

● SCOTCH TO GO DOWN?—Scotch whisky prices are due for a tumble. Much of the impending decline is traceable to the recent arrival of 2,500,000 fifths from Great Britain.

Prices already had dropped from $10 and $12 last Christmas to $6 and under—due principally to consumer resistance—but the new shipment held out the prospect of further reductions.

To make the prediction stick, Great Britain said that it planned to step up its Scotch production to obtain more American dollars for badly needed foreign exchange.

Another factor was the plight of many liquor dealers who were caught with high-priced Scotch and now find the market about to be glutted with new supplies.

● AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR is not only worried about the high cost of living but is issuing storm warnings of an economic collapse.

In a survey of economic trends the AFL bluntly charges that "cheerful news from the business front today obscures what is actually happening."

It contends that despite an all-time peak in employment and the fact that the country is still riding the crest of the prosperity wave there are signs of trouble ahead.

The labor organization says that an analysis shows that the boom is being carried along by huge exports and by expanding use of consumer credit. It declares:

"Lasting prosperity with high levels of employment and production depends on a huge demand for industry's products. Such demand must be supported by something more than loans to nations abroad and to consumers at home.

"Yet this year almost half of the 19 billion dollars' worth of exports our country will send abroad will be paid for by United States loans to foreign countries. And at home American consumers are already borrowing three billions more than last year to pay for their purchases—an increase of 44 per cent.

● VITAMINS TO SET PRICES—The Agriculture department predicts that vegetables and meats will be priced not by the pound but by their nutritive value, if markets continue to develop the transparent packaging of food.

Agriculture points out that in this type of packaging, vegetables are given a preliminary cleaning and sorting. Damaged ones generally come to light and are discarded. Meats are trimmed.

Cellophane And Food Marketing

The department argues that, therefore, one pound of string beans in cellophane may well be worth two pounds in bulk. It predicts that the next step will be pricing that takes this greater volume into consideration.

Agriculture, which long has had an eye for attractive packaging of foods, says that this labeling of transparently-wrapped foods may step up quality.

It argues that wholesalers and distributors will have pride to uphold and thus handle the foods with more care.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITISH CHEER PRINCESS AFTER BETROTHAL TOLD

Wedding Of Elizabeth To Former Greek Prince Expected In Fall

LONDON, July 10 — Princess Elizabeth of Britain, wearing an engagement ring of dazzling diamonds, was cheered wildly today when she appeared in public for the first time following announcement of her engagement to wed.

Her fiance, Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, was not present when she drove with King George VI and Queen Elizabeth from Buckingham palace at noon to take part in a memorial commemoration at Westminster abbey.

Although the young naval lieutenant did not accompany her it was learned that the couple posed for official engagement pictures in the bow room of Buckingham palace earlier and both were depicted as radiantly happy.

ON HER VISIT to the abbey the princess wore a coffee colored suit with matching hat and brown and white shoes.

With the king, queen and princess were Queen Mother Mary, Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, Prime Minister Attlee and cabinet members as well as members of the diplomatic service.

Buckingham palace's private post office was overwhelmed with congratulatory letters and additional clerks were called in to handle the mail and telegrams addressed to Elizabeth and the former prince Philip of Greece.

PALACE OFFICIALS emphasized that the marriage date, the honeymoon itinerary and the question of a title for Lieut. Mountbatten all are unsettled, but it seemed probable that the marriage will be in the Fall.

Authoritative sources said Elizabeth will retain the surname of Windsor and that any children will be princes and princesses of the royal house of Windsor.

Court circles indicated that Elizabeth's wedding gown will be classical, with a long train woven of all-British material and having a priceless veil of Point de Flandres lace loaned by Queen Mother Mary, the same the princess' mother wore in 1923.

The British public rejoiced over the formal announcement of the long-expected engagement.

HIGHLIGHT of today is expected to come when the princess appears with Lieut. Mountbatten at a garden party at Buckingham palace which will be attended by 10,000 persons during the afternoon.

The couple is expected to appear on a balcony of the palace in the evening to receive open congratulations of the people of London.

Public reaction generally was that the engagement formalized a true love match between the princess and the royal navy lieutenant who for some time have been known to share great affection for each other.

Lieut. Mountbatten recently gave up his rights as a Greek prince to become a British citizen.

Speculation was that the 21-year-old princess and 26-year-old Lieut. Mountbatten will wed by Autumn. There were varying reports that the couple might journey to Canada and even to the United States on their honeymoon.

CASE AGAINST MISS RIFE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Decision in the case against Miss Mae Kathryn Rife, 28, Walnut township, was taken under advisement by Judge William D. Radcliff, Wednesday afternoon, following a one-day trial in Pickaway county common pleas court.

From the witness chair Miss Rife denied the testimony offered by several state's witnesses that on the morning of last May 17 she drove more than 60 miles an hour on Main street in Ashville. The grand jury on June 13 indicted her on counts of reckless driving and resisting arrest.

Miss Rife allegedly resisted when Constable Paul Wellington, Ashville, went to her farm home to take her into custody on the reckless driving charge.

ASHVILLE REDS SET TO SCORE WIN ON SUNDAY

League Leaders Hitting .308 As Team; Tracey, Ankrom Leading Players

Ashville Reds, sponsors, manager, players and fans, promised Thursday that Chillicothe Mead Papermakers will take a licking Sunday when they play a South Central Ohio Baseball league game Sunday against the Reds.

Very much upset over losing at Chillicothe July 4 and then being rained out last Sunday, the Reds are in a frame of mind to win by a large score this Sunday when the Papermakers visit Ashville Community park.

Manager Carl Gulick said Mark Wylie definitely would start and he would be trying his best to beat the Chillicotheans after being credited with the loss as a relief hurler last Friday.

Don Pollard, slow lefthander who did a pretty good job of stopping the Reds at Chillicothe, is expected to oppose Ashville Sunday. Other possible pitchers are "Chuck" Brown, Roy Bartlett and Harold Stout.

BOB TRACEY is leading the Ashville hitter, according to latest figures. He is batting .457. At bat 46 times he had 21 hits, 26 total bases, 11 runs batted in, has scored 15 and has stolen eight bases.

"Snapper" Ankrom has the highest RBI mark, sending 24 runs across the plate. At bat 43 times he has 19 hits, 32 total bases, .442 average, has 14 runs and nine stolen bases.

Other regulars on the team have these marks: Wally Noon, 38 times up, 14 hits, 21 total bases, .368 average, 10 RBI, 10 runs; Carl Gulick, 43, 13, 15, .289, 9, 10, 6; H. Gulick, 38, 10, 14, .263, 7, 14, 4; Jay Gregg, 41, 10, 11, .244, 6, 7 3; Glen Belcher 29, 5, 6, .172, 1, 6, 2; Harper, 32 7, 14, .225, 1, 7 2.

Team batting average is .308.

In the opposite bracket of the championship flight, Shirley Spork of Michigan state normal and Carol Clark of Miami university met in the other semi-final match.

RAIN AGAIN TROUBLES HARNESS MEN AT MARION

MARION, O., July 10 — Clear skies were fervently hoped for today by Marion trotting association officials following the second little grand circuit postponement of the week last night.

Rain and muddy track forced last night's program to be shifted to tonight. Feature of the card is the 2:28 trot Berlou stake.

Band Concert, Donkey Ball Game, League Contest Planned At Park

Everything was set Thursday morning for a big evening at Ted Lewis park—if the weatherman does not spoil the setup.

Wednesday evening's rain washed out the scheduled Night Softball league game between Mumaw's Market and VFW but workmen were busy putting the field in shape for Thursday night. If there is no rain this evening the three-fold program will go on as scheduled.

At 7:15 the newly-organized community band will play its first concert. Regular league game between Blue Ribbon and Richards Implement is set for 8 p. m. Following this Rotary and Kiwanis club members will mount mules to play a donkey baseball game.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S double feature program has been changed. At 8 p. m. Isaly's and Tarlton will play a regular league game. Following this contest, at about 9 p. m., Richards Implement will meet Portsmouth Ramey Feeds. The Portsmouth team substitutes for 740 AC, which is playing in Columbus Friday night and cannot be here. The Portsmouth club is one of the better teams in Portsmouth and feature Paul Suter, pitcher, who did a good job in the district tournament at Chillicothe last year.

Saturday night another double bill is offered. At 9 p. m. Mumaw's Market is scheduled to meet Borean Meadowbrook, one of the leaders in the Columbus independent league. Some of the leading players on the capital city club are Junie Scase, Rex "Dee Dee" Sellen, Al Mussio and Don Gearon. At 8 p. m. Drake's Produce will play a Springfield team.

PELLICLE SETS RECORD

CHICAGO, July 10 — Horse followers today hailed Hal Price Headley's fleet colt, Pellicle, for a record-breaking run to victory in the $25,000 Grassland handicap at Arlington park. The sleek 4-year-old set a new American turf course record and a new park mark in winning the mile and three-sixteenths event yesterday in 1:56. The time was two fifths of a second better than the American mark set by Put In at Washington park in 1943 and three fifths better than the Arlington record established by Frere Jacques last year.

LEADERS IN AA REMAIN SAME; DIVIDE GAMES

By International News Service

The American Association race virtually was marking time today.

Both league leading Kansas City and second place Louisville broke even in last night's efforts, while the circuit's other pair of scheduled contests was rained out.

Kansas City took care of some unfinished business by winning a three-inning replay of part of the protested June 7 game with Indianapolis, 3 to 2. The game was protested because Umpire Pat Padden allowed Butch Moran, injured Indian first sacker, to be tagged out although the game had been halted to administer first aid to the player.

The Blues won the original game, 7 to 2, but had to be satisfied with a one-run margin last night.

Indianapolis was more successful in the regularly scheduled game, defeating the Blues, 6 to 2, as Bob Malloy scattered eight hits for his seventh victory.

Glenn Elliott pitched Milwaukee to an 8-to-3 win over Louisville in a seven-inning opener, but the Colonels won the second half of a twin bill, 7 to 3. Jack Griffore was the winner.

Rain postponed games between St. Paul and Toledo and Minneapolis and Columbus.

WRITER SEES WESTERN TEAM

California Towns Will Be In Majors Soon, Corum Believes

NEW YORK, July 10 — The straws in the baseball wind these days blow toward the West. If that sounds a trifle over fancy and also on the cryptic side, all I'm saying is that slowly but very surely the day approaches when, at least, Los Angeles and San Francisco will have big league ball teams. And it may be sooner than you think.

There was a personable gentleman named Leonard J. Roach around the all-star game headquarters in Chicago on Monday and Tuesday, who talked the way the writer has been talking for five years about the major league situation.

That is, that a league of teams that extends no further than the Mississippi river is neither a National League, nor an American league.

THE IMPORTANT difference in Roach's argument and my more or less perennial one is that he had something with which to back up his talk. Namely, the support of every civic organization in Los Angeles, and the proffer of a ready made major league park that will seat 100,000 fans — the Los Angeles coliseum.

Not to pick on Richard Muckerman's St. Louis Browns but simply to make the strongest possible argument, permit me to cite a few figures to prove how financially unsound the present big league set-up is.

Muckerman, a new owner, has been pouring money into his baseball properties in a way that would indicate that he gets his money out of a well.

All told, I understand that Muckerman has spent upwards of $600,000 building new stands for his team in the Texas league and renovating old Sportsman's park.

FOR ALL THIS progressive and hustling policy on the part of the new owner, listen to the size of three crowds the Browns have drawn in their home park this season. They opened the season before a rousing turnout of approximately 8,000. They played a Fourth of July doubleheader with Detroit before around 9,000 and for one night game — night game, mind you—they drew all of 3,000 lost souls.

That constitutes a total of approximately 20,000 customers for three important ball games. Had the present St. Louis Browns been the L. A. Browns and playing the coliseum, however, it is reasonable to guess that those three same dates would have brought out a quarter of a million fans.

MARE RETURNS $129.60 IN MAYWOOD PARK RACE

CHICAGO, July 10—The highest betting price of the current Maywood park harness racing program was recorded today.

It was returned by Jenny Rector, a seven-year-old mare driven by Bill Albers, Mulberry Grove, Ill., last night in a mile event, when she paid $129.60, $30.40 and $16.40.

In the featured eighth race, Diane Scot, driven by Elmer Guernsey, Mankato, Minn., drove past Hi-Lo's Faith and Belladale for the victory.

GAME POSTPONED

Intermediate softball league game between First EUB church and Isaly's Juniors, scheduled for 6 p. m. Friday, has been postponed. All members of the church team are asked to report at the church at 5 p. m. to go to Chillicothe to play a game there. Rain washed out Wednesday evening's league game.

CASE SELECTED

CHICAGO, July 10 — Ernie Case, U. C. L. A.'s deft T-man, was the first quarterback selected today for the College All-Stars squad which will meet the Chicago Bears of the National Football league in Soldiers Field Aug. 22.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

No one here really knows anything to do about the open Communist obstructionist revolution, except this. War is unthinkable. You cannot appease a revolution. You cannot even appease a Communist, except by destroying yourself for him. Little is seen or heard about Henry Wallace or James Roosevelt around the state department. The Marshall crowd does not even stop to criticize them. on the other side, Messrs. Truman, Stassen, et al, know that as soon as the subject of more money than the nearly $20 billion already gone abroad is officially raised, the isolationists will break loose from their moorings behind the bipartisan foreign policy and streak questions across the skies. The administrationists rather think Marshall, the leveler, may be their best bet and are inclined to let him have his head for a while. They would like to steal the show from the Republicans by something new and sensational, but they fear the hornets' nest, suspecting it may descend on them anyway in some unexpected European collapse, even if they do not molest it.

About all this, Senator Taft has been rather angrily determine there shall be no special session of congress or prolongation of this session. In fact about the only soul which dared peep about a special session has been that of Hatch of New Mexico, and everyone ignored him. Taft says something about not taking executive responsibilities. Congress overwhelmingly wants to clean up current loose ends and get out this month for rest. Mr. Truman might recall it in October. But Taft is going to exercise the wartime privilege congress accorded itself to reassemble itself if situations warrant before January.

SENATE SLATED TO ACT ON NEW SUGAR MEASURE

Bill To Maintain Control On Price Given Okay By Committee

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate was expected to give early consideration to a bill to continue the sugar control act for five years from next December 31, expiration date of the existing law.

The bill, which calls for quotas from domestic producers and imports, was approved Wednesday by the senate finance committee.

The secretary of agriculture is authorized by the legislation to determine domestic sugar needs one year in advance as a basis for quotas.

HE IS REQUIRED to "attempt" to maintain present relationships between wholesale prices for refined sugar and the general cost of living index.

Under the bill, U. S. producing areas would have a normal quota of four million, 268 thousand short tons divided as follows:

Domestic beet sugar, one billion 800 million tons; mainland cane sugar, 500,000 tons; Hawaii, one million 52 thousand tons; Puerto Rico, 910,000; Virgin Islands, 6,000, while the Philippines would have a fixed quota of 952,000 short tons. The remainder of the quota would come from Cuba and other countries, Cuba supplying 98.64 of the balance.

FIRE COMPANY MASCOT ATTENDS FIRE, HAS PUPS

CHICAGO, July 10—Considering all things, it was quite a busy day for Bum, the mascot of Chicago fire company 103.

In addition to answering alarms, Bum managed to give birth to six puppies.

The dog had been ordered leashed by company officers, but when an alarm sounded, Bum broke loose and leaped on the truck. Her first off-spring was born yesterday while firemen were extinguishing the blaze with handpumps.

When the fire was out, the company sped back to the enginehouse where the other five pups were born.

One-Minute Test

1. Who was the author of the song which begins, "Drink to me only with thine eyes"?
2. Who was the author of the lines, "And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law"? What is the name of the poem in which it appears?
3. Who described his wife in these words, "Trusty, dusky, vivid, true"?

Words of Wisdom

The soundest argument will produce no more conviction in an empty head than the most superficial declamation; a feather and a guinea fall with equal velocity in a vacuum.—Colton.

Hints on Etiquette

Courteousness makes as good an impression in the business world as it does in the social sphere. Even if you must write a dunning letter, you are likely to meet with better results if the missive is tactful and courteous.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, you should cultivate and acquire more self-confidence. You are conscientious and trustworthy in carrying out another's plans, but hesitant and indeterminate in your own. You are kind, gentle, sympathetic and understanding and love deeply. This is a good day, so make hay while the sun shines. Accomplishment will probably be followed by a period of waiting. Indications are for expansion. Apart from some disappointment or disillusionment through unrequited love on the part of lover, spouse or friend, your next year will be an excellent one. Today's child will be ambitious, enterprising, industrious, tenacious, inventive, original, affectionate, generous and high-souled, but threatened with sorrow through deception, otherwise, outstanding good fortune is portended.

One-Minute Test Answers

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

No one here really knows anything to do about the open Communist obstructionist revolution, except this. War is unthinkable. You cannot appease a revolution. You cannot even appease a Communist, except by destroying yourself for him. Little is seen or heard about Henry Wallace or James Roosevelt around the state department. The Marshall crowd does not even stop to criticize them. on the other side, Messrs. Truman, Stassen, et al, know that as soon as the subject of more money than the nearly $20 billion already gone abroad is officially raised, the isolationists will break loose from their moorings behind the bipartisan foreign policy and streak questions across the skies. The administrationists rather think Marshall, the leveler, may be their best bet and are inclined to let him have his head for a while. They would like to steal the show from the Republicans by something new and sensational, but they fear the hornets' nest, suspecting it may descend on them anyway in some unexpected European collapse, even if they do not molest it.

About all this, Senator Taft has been rather angrily determine there shall be no special session of congress or prolongation of this session. In fact about the only soul which dared peep about a special session has been that of Hatch of New Mexico, and everyone ignored him. Taft says something about not taking executive responsibilities. Congress overwhelmingly wants to clean up current loose ends and get out this month for rest. Mr. Truman might recall it in October. But Taft is going to exercise the wartime privilege congress accorded itself to reassemble itself if situations warrant before January.

SENATE SLATED TO ACT ON NEW SUGAR MEASURE

Bill To Maintain Control On Price Given Okay By Committee

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate was expected to give early consideration to a bill to continue the sugar control act for five years from next December 31, expiration date of the existing law.

The bill, which calls for quotas from domestic producers and imports, was approved Wednesday by the senate finance committee.

The secretary of agriculture is authorized by the legislation to determine domestic sugar needs one year in advance as a basis for quotas.

HE IS REQUIRED to "attempt" to maintain present relationships between wholesale prices for refined sugar and the general cost of living index.

Under the bill, U. S. producing areas would have a normal quota of four million, 268 thousand short tons divided as follows:

Domestic beet sugar, one billion 800 million tons; mainland cane sugar, 500,000 tons; Hawaii, one million 52 thousand tons; Puerto Rico, 910,000; Virgin Islands, 6,000, while the Philippines would have a fixed quota of 952,000 short tons. The remainder of the quota would come from Cuba and other countries, Cuba supplying 98.64 of the balance.

FIRE COMPANY MASCOT ATTENDS FIRE, HAS PUPS

CHICAGO, July 10—Considering all things, it was quite a busy day for Bum, the mascot of Chicago fire company 103.

In addition to answering alarms, Bum managed to give birth to six puppies.

The dog had been ordered leashed by company officers, but when an alarm sounded, Bum broke loose and leaped on the truck. Her first off-spring was born yesterday while firemen were extinguishing the blaze with handpumps.

When the fire was out, the company sped back to the enginehouse where the other five pups were born.

Words of Wisdom

The soundest argument will produce no more conviction in an empty head than the most superficial declamation; a feather and a guinea fall with equal velocity in a vacuum.—Colton.

Hints on Etiquette

Courteousness makes as good an impression in the business world as it does in the social sphere. Even if you must write a dunning letter, you are likely to meet with better results if the missive is tactful and courteous.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, you should cultivate and acquire more self-confidence. You are conscientious and trustworthy in carrying out another's plans, but hesitant and indeterminate in your own. You are kind, gentle, sympathetic and understanding and love deeply. This is a good day, so make hay while the sun shines. Accomplishment will probably be followed by a period of waiting. Indications are for expansion. Apart from some disappointment or disillusionment through unrequited love on the part of lover, spouse or friend, your next year will be an excellent one. Today's child will be ambitious, enterprising, industrious, tenacious, inventive, original, affectionate, generous and high-souled, but threatened with sorrow through deception, otherwise, outstanding good fortune is portended.

PRESIDENT TO VETO TAX BILL AGAIN

Taft, Hartley Disagree On Law Provisions

SENATOR SAYS COAL CONTRACT NOT VIOLATION

House Co-Author Of Labor Bill Claim Miners' Pact Flaunts Law

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Taft (R) O., today sharply contradicted charges by Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, that the new coal-wage agreement violates the union control law.

Taft made his statement in response to an assertion by B. C. Forbes, investment counselor, at a meeting of the joint congressional economic committee to study problems of economic stabilization.

Forbes said he believed that the new coal contract "thumbs its nose at the new Taft-Hartley bill."

Taft retorted:

"I don't agree. The whole theory of the bill is that employer and employe should be able to enter in such agreement as they wish. It was designed to insure free collective bargaining."

Taft added:

"I don't think it is a violation of the law. I don't agree that the metrics to say what kind of contract should be made."

• • •

HARTLEY CHARGED that the mine agreement contained at least one violation of the Taft-Hartley act and indicated he would seek a justice department inquiry into the new wage contract.

Forbes maintained that he considered the contract "a de-

GREEK ROUNDUP LANDS 4,000 REDS IN JAIL

ATHENS, July 10—The Greek government dragnet to seize persons involved in a left-wing plot to carry out a coup designed to gain control of the Athens regime resulted today in the arrest of 4,000 Communists.

The additional arrests were announced as Army and police officials pressed their campaign to round up would-be insurrectionists.

Initial arrests which thwarted the planned coup brought some 2,800 arrests.

Deputy Premier Sophocles Venizelos declared that the western allied governments had given their approval to the anti-Communist measures credited with frustrating a coup which had been planned for 1 a. m. today.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The coal contract is effective only when miners are "able and willing to work". Fortunately they have John Lewis to tell them when they're both.

Old John will be a better diagnostician of "clauses contractitis" than Johns Hopkins.

But it's going to look odd to see Lewis bent over a miner, trying his chest with the stethoscope and burning his liver with the cigar.

Miner gets up in the morning and says: "I feel as bouncey as a Bugsey Siegel check today." His wife says "don't be silly, there's a note from the union that you're in terrible pain."

Or he says "I feel terrible today, I don't want to go to work." His wife says "not according to the early morning news — John Lewis said you were able and willing."

I've got a labor leader in the balcony, doctor.

HERE'S flying saucer as envisioned by artist after hearing latest "eyewitness" reports. This saucer has everything but the cup and a man from Mars in the cockpit.

'DISC' FINDER REPEATS STORY

First Man To See 'Saucers' Insists He Observed Large Aircraft

PENDLETON, ORE., July 10- The first person to report "flying discs" stood staunchly by his original story today and rejected any suggestion that he might have seen a weather balloon or the exhaust of jet planes. He also declared that only three other people have seen what he witnessed and implied that other "eyewitnesses" of the mysterious aircraft are reporting something else—or nothing at all.

He is Kenneth Arnold, flying businessman of Boise, Idaho, who still refuses to say what he thinks the objects are. He declared:

"I won't make any wild guesses. I'm only telling what I saw."

AFTER COMPLETING a five-hour flight over Oregon and Washington seeking more of the strange aircraft—the latest of several such flights—he denied flatly that they could have been weather balloons.

He expressed belief that the only other authentic reports of the discs have come from Captain E. J. Smith, pilot of a United Airlines plane, and his co-pilot, Ralph Stevens, who reported seeing the things on a flight from Boise to Portland.

The flyers said they called their stewardess, Marty Morrow, Seattle, who saw the same objects.

Arnold declared:

"All three of us agree that the discs are bigger than a DC-3 (a twin-engine passenger plane) and that they were moving at a high rate of speed.

"I actually saw a type of aircraft slightly longer than it was wide, with a thickness about one-twentieth as great as its width.

"I observed them not only with the sun shining on them but

HOUSE RECEIVES ARMED FORCES MERGER MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 10—The long drawn-out fight over unifying the armed services under a single secretary was moved to the house today by overwhelming senate passage of the measure.

In the only roll-call test on the bill, the senate turned down, 52 to 11, an amendment by Sen. McCarthy (R), Wis., that would strengthen safeguards against altering functions of the Marines or naval aviation.

In the house the executive expenditures committee is expected to have a bill completed this week or early next. In section-by-section voting, the house group is following generally the pattern of the senate-passed Gurney bill, favored by President Truman.

Final senate passage was by voice vote, apparently unanimous.

Winchell Claims 'Discs' Flying Wings of Navy

NEW YORK, July 10—Walter Winchell, New York Daily Mirror columnist, wrote today that despite vigorous denials by Army and Navy officials the flying saucers actually are flying wings developed by the U. S. Navy.

Winchell said that they can land at a very low speed — making them good for carriers, and that there "is said to be an entire squadron at Muroc Field, Calif."

He added:

"The above is not rumor—it is a fact, according to 'insiders' who were promised that the source would be protected."

WINCHELL SAID the war department has denied that it knows about the flying discs. He added:

"Many people assume that the Army and Navy department are one and that all of their aerial and scientific developments are joint projects. This is not so. The Navy, I am certain, has its own laboratories for aerial experimentation.

"It is also alleged that in 1943 an American firm (in Chicago) pioneering in jet propulsion planes sent an experimental test ship through the so-called supersonic wall. In other words, in this test flight in 1943 the jet plane traveled with a pilot aboard faster than sound. Thus it supposedly went through the supersonic wall where it was traveling in space ahead of itself.

"While I have no confirmed information on the above, I understand these facts are in existence and that the plane was not heard of again for more than three weeks when it was found crashed somewhere in lower Montana. The pilot was dead. He was 38, but his teeth and body were those of a man of 25. He got younger, not older."

'DISC' THEORY GETS BACKING OF NAVY OFFICER

Theory held by many Circlevilleans and Pickaway countians that the three box-kite-like silver foil-covered six-pointed gadgets discovered on three Pickaway county farms during the past six days are some of the "flying saucers" which have mystified the entire nation was strengthened Thursday.

Lieut. Commander Thomas H. Rentz, of the Chamblee Naval Air Station, Atlanta, Ga., declared there Thursday that he knows the answer to the "flying saucer" mystery.

He said they are "ray winds" or tin foil screens borne aloft by balloons. He said the screens are used to reflect radar rays and determine the velocity of the winds at various altitudes.

He noted that when the balloons reach 25,000 feet they burst. Then the ray winds are borne along by air currents as fast as 165 miles an hour.

After a special demonstration of the officer's theory, reporters declared the "ray winds" look completely round when they reach a high altitude. They also gleam like polished aluminum.

The Atlanta weather bureau declared that "ray winds" are in general use at weather stations in several sections of the country to determine wind velocity.

The weather station described them as a "radio device" which measures the vertical and horizontal angles of sound waves from a target screen. The tin-foil screen reflects the sound of the air currents rebounding against it as it is borne aloft.

BURNING OF CROSS IS BELIEVED TO BE PRANK

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 10 —Officials were inclined today to dismiss as a prank the burning of a fiery cross at Jeddo, a small Negro settlement nine miles north of Steubenville.

However, Sheriff Robert Bates said that two residents of the community reported receiving threatening letters, signed "K.K.K.", which they found in their mailboxes.

FARM SUBSIDY PROGRAM URGED BY ECONOMIST

WASHINGTON, July 10 — An agricultural economist urged a joint congressional committee today to continue farm price supports after the expiration of the present law in 1948.

Theodore W. Schultz, chairman of the University of Chicago economics departments and trustee of the national planning association, testified at hearings of the joint economic committee which is studying problems of economic stabilization.

Schultz said, however, that the price support system should be revised by:

1. Announcing the price support level before farmers have made their production plans.
2. Fixing the level at from 15 to 25 percent under the expected market price at full employment.
3. Permitting market prices to rise above and fall below support prices.
4. Providing for government income payments to farmers when market prices fall below support prices.

MARSHALL TO START SERIES OF CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate foreign relations committee announced today that Secretary of State Marshall will appear before that group tomorrow in the first of a series of "discussions on problems of state."

The closed-door session is expected to deal primarily with the Marshall plan for rehabilitation of Europe, according to committee members.

The announcement stated that the closed conferences with Marshall will "continue next session on regular schedule."

Four Soviet Satellites Decline Aid

LONDON, July 10 — Hungary joined four other Soviet satellite nations today in rejecting the joint British-French invitation to participate in the Paris conference to institute the Marshall aid program for Europe.

The Budapest government declined the bid in an official announcement.

Hungary's rejection followed a fresh charge by Soviet quarters that both Britain and France are carrying out the orders of Washington in plans for Saturday's parley on the Marshall aid program.

The Russians, through the Soviet Tass agency, charged anew that the western alies are seeking to split Europe.

The renewed charges came after three key states in the Soviet Bloc — Poland, Yugoslavia and Romania — turned down invitations to the July 12 Paris parley.

The rejected invitations were balanced by three Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark — who signified their willingness to attend.

These countries, together with others who already have answered in the affirmative, insured the participation, including Britain and France, of 17 powers at the talks to seek European rehabilitation under the Marshall plan.

WEATHER HEADS TOWARD NORMAL

Temperatures Slated To Go Up; Northeastern Ohio Crop Report Gloomy

By International News Serivce

Ohio's weather headed back toward normal today after several days of temperatures about six degrees below average for this time of year.

Forecasters predicted that the upward trend of the mercury would begin this afternoon and gain momentum tomorrow.

Although the forecast included cloudiness and showers and scattered thunderstorms today, tonight and tomorrow, weathermen said the general rain over the state probably has ended.

Every point reporting showed rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. today, and at least two—Cincinnati and Dayton—recorded more than an inch of precipitation.

FROM NORTHEASTERN Ohio came reports indicating one of the state's worst crop failures in more than 35 years as a result of excessive rainfall during the Spring and early Summer.

Arthur Zink, Toledo chairman of the agricultural adjustment administration and operator of a 320-acre farm at Berkey, said Ohio gave evidence of being much harder hit than other states in the mid-western farm belt.

In some sections, according to Zink, only 70 per cent of the normal corn crop was planted this Spring and not more than five per cent of that is likely to mature.

Zink also estimated that only 50 per cent of the tomato crop for commercial canners was planted and only 50 per cent of the sguar beet crop was sowed.

"Farmers need rain and warmer weather badly," the

SOLON DEMANDS NAMES OF ATOM SECRET ROBBERS

Congressionl Committee To Enlarge Security Staff; Sergeants Face Charge

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, declared today that foreign spies are working "24 hours a day" in attempts to steal America's atom bomb secrets.

WASHINGTON, July 10—Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., demanded today that congress be furnished the names of the two former Army sergeants who stole "important documents" from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb laboratory.

Rankin, a member of the house un-American activities committee, told the house:

"I shall insist on getting the names of the two men and see who it is who is trying to undermine this country."

The Mississippian declared that it is "silly" to believe reports that the documents, which Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, said were subsequently recovered by the F.B.I., were taken as souvenirs and were not divulged to anyone else.

RANKIN SAID he is determined to "find out who is behind this movement to take the secrets of the atomic bomb and turn them over to the enemy."

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., committee chairman, told a reporter that continuation of civilian control of the A-bomb is "a threat to the safety of the United States and to the peace of the world."

Thomas declared that the country would be making a "great mistake" in not returning custody of the A-bomb and atomic energy development in general back to the Army.

He explained:

"What I feared is happening. Under the atomic energy commission there is very little security. The A-bomb secrets are no longer safe. I think that situation represents a threat to the safety of the United States and to the peace of the world."

The documents stolen from Los Alamos were taken when the project was under Army control.

THE CONGRESSIONAL atomic committee was ready today to increase its security staff as the government prepared to prosecute two Army sergeants accused of stealing secret atomic data.

ANGUS SALE AT FAIR PLANNED BY ASSOCIATION

Ross Mooney, Columbus, discussed "control and eradication of insects and parasites in cattle by the use of DDT and allied chemicals" at a meeting of the Pickaway county Aberdeen - Angus association in the extension office Wednesday night.

Mr. Mooney, who used the new chemicals in the Army during the war, explained many uses in the war on pests.

Members of the association decided to hold a sale of registered Angus heifers in connection with the Pickaway county fair. Sale committee includes Merle Hinton, Charles Kreisel and Dean Godden.

The group also voted to contribute $160 toward premiums at the 4-H club show at the fair.

The money will be used as follows; $25 each will be given to the champion steer and heifer, providing they are Angus; $25 each for the reserve champions, if they are Angus, and a $60 prize in the special breeders class.

President Hewitt Cromley presided at the meeting.

Dewey Drive Gains Speed In Missouri

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10— The Dewey drive for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination took on snowball proportions today as the New York governor plunged into strategy conferences with party bigwigs from Kansas and Missouri.

Gov. Dewey, who was greeted by a railroad station crowd of 1,000 persons on his arrival in Kansas City last night from Sapulpa, Okla., was credited with stealing a march on his rivals for the GOP nomination by "beating the bushes" a year in advance.

Dewey will have few minutes to spare today, prior to his late evening departure for Salt Lake City, Utah, where he will attend the annual governors' conference.

In addition to behind-the-doors talks with party leaders in a

DEMOS AFRAID OF VANDENBERG

Michigan Senator Voted As 'Hardest To Beat' For President In 1948

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan was disclosed today to have won a poll of congressional Democrats as the Republican who would be "hardest to beat" in the 1948 presidential election.

The poll was conducted by the magazine, Pageant.

While the Democrats may fear Vandenberg the most, Republicans on capitol hill still report Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as the present favorite for their nomination next year.

Among Republicans, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio continues in second place. Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota also has his Republican followers.

HOWEVER, many Republicans talk about a "dark horse". The names mentioned most frequently in this category are house speaker Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, of Kansas.

The Pageant poll drew answers from 119 out of 233 Democrats in the house and senate. They were asked:

"As a Democrat, which Republican would you least like to see nominated for the presidency next year? In other words, which man would be hardest to beat?"

The Democrats voted:

Vandenberg 58; Dewey, 18; Gov. Earl Warren, of California, 11; Taft, 10; Sen. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, 9; Stassen, 9; Martin, 3, and Eisenhower, 1.

GROMYKO FAILS IN UN MOVE TO BLOCK AUSTRIA

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 10—Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko failed today in an attempt to block consideration by the security council of the application of Austria for membership in the United Nations.

After discussion of the technical aspects of the question, Chairman Oscar Lange of Poland referred Austria's application to the membership committee.

Gromyko argued that the peace treaty with Austria has not been signed, and is not even ready for signing. He said Austria's position is different from that of Italy and Hungary whose treaties are in the process of ratification.

PRESIDENT MAY CALL CONGRESS BACK IN FALL

Special Session On Marshall Aid Plan Possible; Politics Dismissed

WASHINGTON, July 10—President Truman bluntly asserted today that he will again veto the new tax reduction bill now before the senate.

The President told a news conference that he did not see any reason why this attitude toward the Republican sponsored tax-reduction program should change.

He said if the congress sends him the bill similar to the one he vetoed June 16 he will veto it again.

THE PRESIDENT also announced he will call a special session of congress this Fall if legislation is necessary to put the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe in effect.

The President told newsmen he must await the outcome of the Paris conference of European nations to determine whether a special session will be necessary.

Mr. Truman said he does not see any necessity now for a special session, but that he will issue such a call if developments on the Marshall plan warrant.

THE PRESIDENT said he will meet with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders Monday for a lengthy discussion of the European situation.

He said the main topic he wishes to discuss is action on his request that this country's doors be opened to "a substantial number" of the one million displaced persons now in the occupation zones of western Europe.

The President denied reports that he was summoning the congressional leaders to the White House for the main purpose of discussing the Marshall plan.

He said, however, that if the matter is brought up in connection with the discussion on displaced persons, he may go into it.

• • •

THE PRESIDENT ruled out for the present any political speechmaking trip through the west this Fall, or even next Spring.

He said no plans have been made for any trip anywhere.

Mr. Truman said, however,

TAX REDUCTION BILL MAY PASS SENATE FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The GOP bill to give taxpayers a cut next January 1 reached the senate floor a day ahead of schedule today with Republican leaders claiming they need only three more votes to override a presidential veto.

Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., acting majority leader, said he was "sure" the majority has 60 votes for his party's second try at writing the four billion dollar tax relief measure into law this year. A minimum of 63 votes is needed to override a veto.

But the outcome on veto test No. 2 was clouded by mushrooming Democratic support for amendments to boost personal exemptions and permit splitting of incomes by husbands and wives.

Wherry said he was hopeful that the 10-½ to 30 percent tax reduction bill, approved yesterday by the senate finance committee, would pass the senate by Friday night.

TWO HURT IN CRASH

LOGAN, O., July 10 — Jack Hane, 32, Lancaster, and Joe Sinnott, 28, Union Furnace, were recovering today from injuries received when a training plane crashed on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks at Union Furnace yesterday. Authorities said the plane belonged to a Lancaster flying service. Hane, pilot of the craft, was giving a lesson to Sinnott. Hane said mechanical failure caused the crash.

SENATOR SAYS COAL CONTRACT NOT VIOLATION

vice to nullify the law."

Taft replied:

"I don't know any provision of the bill that the contract tries to get around. There are many things in the contract that show a direct effort to comply with the law."

Taft commented, however, that so liberal a contract might not be wise from the owners' or the public's standpoint. He said that it was up to the employers to say whether they believe the contract an unfair labor practice but remarked that the mine owners apparently did not wish to contest the agreement on those grounds.

HARTLEY CHARGED that the mine agreement contained at least one clear violation of the Taft-Hartley labor act and other examples of "collusion with the intention of violating the law."

The New Jersey congressman said he was "waiting to see whether the justice department will act of its own volition."

Ezra Van Horn, Cleveland, a spokesman for northern coal producers, and representatives of the United Mine Workers union declined to comment on Hartley's charges.

A southern coal operator, L. E. Tierney, Bluefield, W. Va., president of the Eastern Coal Corp., said:

"The contract obviously was signed under duress. It may very well be a violation. Congressmen Hartley could be right or wrong. We've had no opportunity so far to study the question."

Hartley's charges came as more than 200 AFL executives met in Washington to plan the federation's campaign to challenge the new labor law in the courts, to work for its repeal and to defeat congressional sponsors of the act in the 1948 elections.

THE LEADERS of the AFL's 7,500,000 members unanimously adopted a resolution declaring:

"The Taft-Hartley act is a strike and strife-provoking act. It will serve to prevent the workers from agreeing to incorporate a no-strike pledge in written contracts. It means the end of sound labor-management relations and the substitute therefor of distrust, duspicion and class hatred."

Hartley charged that the provision in the new coal contract providing for the check-off of initiation fees and assessments of the miners' union is a clear violation of the law.

As an example of "collusion", Hartley cited a provision in the contract asserting that the agreement is effective only when the miners "are willing and able to work". This was designed to safeguard the union from damage suits for breach of contract under the new labor law.

JURY TO DECIDE RESISTING CASE

Second Trial Of Miss Rife Being Held In Common Pleas Court

Guilt or innocence of Miss Mae Kathryn Rife, 28, Walnut township, Route 1, Ashville, indicted on a charge of resisting arrest, was to be determined Thursday afternoon by a jury in Pickaway county common pleas court.

The trial began Thursday morning with Judge William Radcliff presiding. The jury is composed of six men and six women. Miss Rife was tried Wednesday before Judge Radcliff under a second count in the indictment accusing her of reckless driving. Judge Radcliff said he had his decision under advisement.

Constable Paul R. Wellington and Deputy Constable Harold Myers testified they made three trips to the Rife farm on May 19, 1947, to take Miss Rife into custody on a warrant issued from the court of Justice of the Peace Elmer Malone charging Miss Rife with reckless driving in Ashville on May 18.

CONSTABLE Wellington told the jury that Miss Rife read the warrant and then refused to submit to arrest, and that later she procured an attorney and posted bond in Justice Malone's court.

Miss Rife from the witness chair insisted that when she drove home from church May 19 Constable Wellington was in the yard, that he told her he had a "paper" for her but that the officer never removed the warrant from his pocket and that he never told her she was "under arrest."

Testimony aimed to substantiate her version of the affair was given by her mother, Mrs. Clara Rife, and her brother, Howard Rife. Miss Rife was represented in court by Attorney Lyman Brownfield, Columbus.

Under cross-examination by County Prosecutor Kenneth Robbins, Miss Rife denied that she refused to enter Justice Malone's court and that she signed the bond in her car. She admitted, however, that she stated in the office of Sheriff Charles Radcliff, in the presence of the sheriff and prosecutor, that she intended to "tear up the bond." Miss Rife denied that she at that time said she had refused to submit to arrest by Constable Wellington.

MISS RIFE admitted, under cross-examination, that on May 17, in Ashville, Constable Welington ordered her to report at 9 a. m. May 18 in Justice Malone's court on a charge of reckless driving. It was testified by state's witnesses at Wednesday's trial that Miss Rife drove more than 60 miles an hour on Main street, Ashville, the morning of May 17.

Admission was made from the witness chair by Miss Rife that she told the constable "I won't be there." As to the bond she said the amount—$1,000 on the resistance charge and $200 for reckless driving—fixed by Justice Malone was "too high."

Presentation of testimony ended at 11:30 a. m. and Judge Radcliff then recessed court until p. m. Following arguments of opposing counsel and the charge of the court the jurors were to begin their deliberations.

TRUMAN GETS PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION BILL

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The house today approved and sent to the White House a bill which would make Speaker Joe Martin the chief executive in case of the death of President Truman.

The new presidential succession measure puts the speaker first in line for the presidency in case of the incapacity of the president or vice president. Next comes the president pro-tem of the senate and then cabinet officials, beginning with the secretary of state.

The senate has already approved the bill and inasmuch as President Truman recommended enactment of such a change in White House succession, his approval is forecast.

It is the first revision of the presidential succession law in 61 years.

vealed that the committee probably will enlarge its three-man staff assigned to study security measures by "50 to 100 percent."

Hickenlooper's statement came after disclosure that the atomic committee senators have been disturbed within the last several weeks by world developments of "vital importance."

It also followed the report that the justice department plans to bring to trial the two souvenir-hunting sergeants who allegedly stole top-secret atomic "documents' from the Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories.

An informed source said that the "documents," which were recovered, were photographs and that one of the unidentified sergeants accused of stealing them was an Army photographer.

NEW TRADES IN JAPAN FEATURE RECOVERY DAYS

Cigaret Butt Picking One Of Most Profitable Jobs In Tokyo

TOKYO, July 10—A Japanese in Tokyo can make more money picking cigaret butts off the streets than he can working as a clerk or secretary for the government or a business house.

The tobacco from the cigaret ends Americans toss on the streets is an important commodity in Japan, and one Japanese who works hard at the task of picking up the butts can earn as much as 300 yen a day.

Street scavenging is only one of the many strange trades Japanese have been forced to accept to maintain existence in the chaos of the postwar economic life of the nation.

THE TOKYO economic daily, "Nihon Keizai," listed some of the strange ways Japanese have adopted to earn a living. Among them was: Shoemakers in Okayama Prefecture, near Hiroshima, were so short of leather that they substituted dried cuttle fish for their repair work.

"A few customers," said the newspaper, "returned and complained that their shoes had been bitten up by rats."

In Tokyo, which has a flourishing taxi-dance business, the flower girls and the taxi dancers have united in a little racket which is profitable and doesn't hurt anyone.

Patrons of the dancehalls like to buy flowers for their favorite dancing partners. The dancers accept the flowers, usually in corsage form, wear them as long as the patron is in the hall, and sell them back to the flower girls after he leaves.

"In two or three days" reported Jiji Press "the original stock of one dozen bouquets would bring 200 yen to 300 yen profit in cash.

Japan is a nation of queues because of the great shortage of every type of consumer commodity. A man in Moji City, on Kyushu, makes 300 yen a day by standing in line for people who want anything from a package of cigaretes to a railroad ticket, a handful of rationed rice to a ticket to a movie.

His commissions total about nine thousand yen a month. A good newspaperman working for a Japanese newspaper or agency is lucky to make three thousand yen.

One such newspaperman, working on a part time basis, receives 2595 yen through a series of dodges designed to sidestep the government regulations restricting incomes. The regulations were ordered to fight inflation, but they failed and employers have been obliged to disregard the laws to give their workers enough money to live.

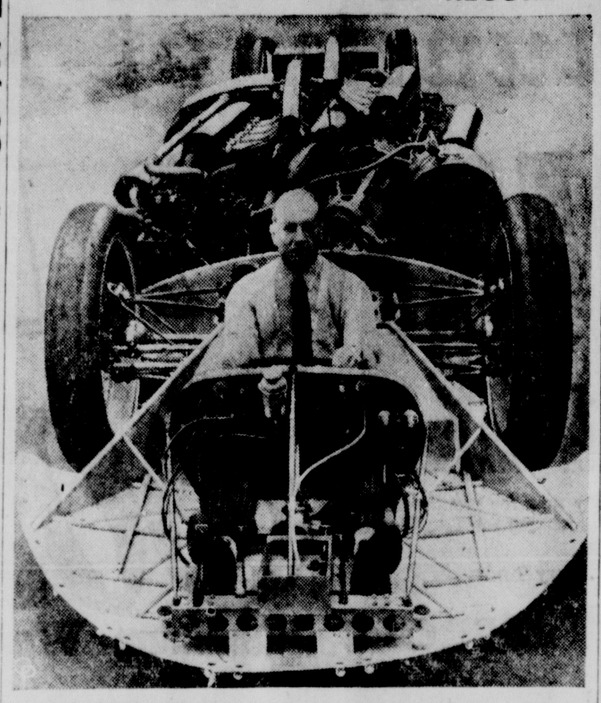

The newspaper does it this way:

Basic salary 875 yen, commodity allowance 525 yen, family allowance (husband) 250 yen, (wife) 100 yen, first assignment 150 yen, second assignment 520 yen, special allowance 175 yen, total 2595 yen.

The reporter said he doesn't know what either of the assignments or the special allowance are for.

The Dominican Republic has 14 principal crops, which account for more than half the total agricultural income. They are plantains and bananas, sugar cane, avocados, rice, cacao, coffee, yuca, mangos, dried beans and peas, sweet potatoes, corn and oranges.

TO ATTEMPT NEW SPEED RECORD

FAMOUS BRITISH DRIVER John Cobb sits in the "made-to-measure" racing car in which he plans to drive to a new world's speed record on Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah. The car is shown in Brooklands, England, without the one piece body which is placed over it when the driver is in position. Cobb holds the present record of 369.7 M.P.H. (International)

Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, was incorporated in 1867, several years before its founder, John Hopkins', death. In 1870 the first board of trustees was created. Early in 1874 the trustees began the organization, and at the end of that year elected Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman as president. He began his duties in 1876.

QUAKE RECORDED

NEW YORK, July 10—Fordham University's seismograph today picked up a "sharp" earthquake which occurred 2,300 miles southeast of New York probably off Mexico.

RUBINOFF WILL SAY HE DID NOT TRICK MOTHER

PITTSBURGH, July 10—Violinist Dave Rubinoff announced today he would fly to Pittsburgh from Encino, Calif., to deny charges he had tricked his partially-blind mother into signing over to him the luxurious home he purchased for her 17 years ago.

Mrs. Rubinoff filed suit in Pittsburgh common pleas court yesterday against the one-time Pittsburgh newsboy.

The suit charges that last June 6 Rubinoff took his 85-year-old mother before a notary and induced her to sign a paper which he had explained would give him possession of the home after her death.

Mrs. Rubinoff learned later, however, the suit charged, that on June 7 he had recorded a deed turning the property over to him.

The suit also alleged that shortly afterward, advertisements appeared in Pittsburgh newspapers offering "Rubinoff's house for sale," and that many prospective buyers had appeared at the home.

'BLACK PANTHER' BEING SOUGHT NEAR WARREN

WARREN, O., July 10—Searching parties were organized today in nearby Bloomfield township to track down a reported "black panther" that was terrorizing residents of the area.

State highway patrolmen combed the wooded area in the Bloomfield sector yesterday but found nothing but sets of unidentified tracks.

Orville Earl told the police that the animal was a panther. He said he had "seen them before." Another resident of the area who reportedly spotted the "panther" was Alfred Carlson, who said he fired a shot at the "cat."

Many others have insisted they heard the animal scream in the night. Dogs were being pressed into service to aid in the organized hunt of the woods.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Fish Bites Woman!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together — whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.

GERMANS AT IT AGAIN

AFTER World War I, the Germans carried out a well-planned campaign to get sympathy from their victors, particularly England. Now they are starting operations along the same line, according to the British Zone Review, official newspaper of the British military government, quoted by Wallace R. Deuel.

Germans accuse the British of "bleeding Germany" of coal for reparations, while in fact, no coal has been used for that purpose. It has been apportioned among German railroads, ports and river boats, and exported to pay for food and other necessities for the Germans themselves. Only 4.1 per cent of the coal production is used by the occupation authorities.

Another gripe of the argumentative Germans is on the prisoner-of-war question. The war, for which the Germans take no responsibility, left desolation and starvation in its wake, and, directly or indirectly, thousands of German prisoners must work to produce food to allay this starvation. This necessity is described in occupied Germany as utilizing "slave labor".

The solution of the problem might be a well-organized publicity program, setting forth in clear terms the objectives of the occupying countries, and the methods of their achievement. If this were done in widespread manner, it could be used to silence arguments, and if the truth were hammered in hard enough, a few stubborn Germans might even by convinced.

THE LABOR LAW

WITH ALL the hue and cry against the new labor law by labor, and endorsement of it by employers, one might think that unionism had received a death blow, employers despotic control over workers and government interference with both had ended. It is becoming increasingly apparent that nothing like this will be the result.

Unions continue strong. Strikes will occur. Wages will continue, in many instances, to go up. But the day is over when a union leader has more authority in an industry than the owner. The employer can have something to say about hiring and firing.

Nevertheless neither the union nor the employers is to be free from government policing. In fact this is to be increased for both sides. Union leadership is going to find government dictates as hard to take as the employer group did in the past. The difference, as a result of the new law, is that both, instead of management only, have their actions prescribed by law.

In general then, the law becomes a kind of compromise. It is something between the easy life employers knew around the turn of the century and the arbitrary powers unions have developed in the last decade. How good it is can only be told by trying. Ask us a year from now.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 10 — General Marshall appears to his friends to have been worried lately. So is all the state department crowd. The Paris conference confirmed the worst about the Soviets. Not only are they against peace, they are opposed to restoring stability. They are against the western powers even aiding Europe further. Officially, they have presented this deliberate position. Consequently nearly everyone now realizes Russia has become bolder in promoting a not very subtle revolution to establish world Communism. They will block anything which interferes, and cooperate only with ventures furthering their revolutionary cause.

This projects a somewhat new field for diplomatic operations. We are the only power big enough to resist profitably. So we expect to get the brunt. Yet no official here is planning anything sensational or different from what we have been doing, as far as the reporters know. We have committed ourselves for nearly $20 billion (yes, billions) of aid abroad since the war; Bretton Woods $6 billion; British loan $3.7 billion; export-import bank $3.5 billion; UNRRA and lend-lease postwar settlement $2 billion apiece; Germany and Japan $1.5 billion; new direct relief $750 million.

Marshall said in his women's press speech we had sent $9 billion of goods to Europe, but this only a part of our aid expenditures. Incidentally, his speech sounded much more forceful in delivery than in print because of the emphasis he gave his main point that from this aid we have received more criticism than appreciation.

At any rate the bankers say $20 billion is enough unless we want to ruin our own economy. But Harold Stassen who is thinking aloud a lot on international affairs, has been doing some thinking off the record that we are in another critical European relief period now. His associates quote him as saying congress will have to hold a special session to appropriate more money unless it writes out a blank check for, say, another half billion and leaves it behind in Mr. Truman's hands. Mr. Truman says only he thinks there will be a continuation of this session beyond adjournment date into August.

Stassen seems to have a hoe in the administration furrow, however. His friends are pointing out his Iowa speech about giving Europe 10 percent of our production, helped work the soil up (along with speeches by Vandenberg, Hoover, Cohen, Acheson and others) for the Marshall plan of promoting European self-aid.

In all this, Marshall seems to be a leveler. He is not freewheeling on "internationally minded" skates. Nor has he cringed when anyone said "fascism", or "isolationist", or "boo". He seems to want to let things develop to see what is necessary, and then to do it, without any preconceived fastidious or isolated notions that it should be done thus and so, and only he can do it. Consequently new policies like the Rhur restoration loan are developing slowly and carefully.

Migraine Is a Challenging Problem of Modern Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MIGRAINE with its devastating one-sided headaches, is one of the most perplexing of the problems of present-day medicine.

Just why certain apparently well people should be subjected to these periodic attacks of violent headache, nausea and vomiting is not definitely known but there does seem a tendency for this disorder to run in families.

Majority of Cases

In the majority of cases, migraine develops before the age of 20 and only rarely does it persist beyond 60. This, together with the well-known fact that many women suffer from attacks just before or during the regular periods, has led to the theory that the disorder might be due to some disturbance of the glands of internal secretions, since these internal secretions are known to govern growth, the onset of maturity and old-age.

But while definite proof of this and all other ideas concerning the cause of the disorder are lacking, there is still much that can be done to relieve it.

Treating the Condition

Drs. Hugo T. Engelhardt, of Houston, Texas, and Vincent J. Derbes, of New Orleans, Louisiana, have outlined the procedure which they follow in treating patients with this condition. When the attack occurs, the patient is put to bed in a dark, quiet, well-ventilated room, and an ice pack is put on the painful area. If possible, the patient is given oxygen to breathe. They have found that this relieves 40 per cent of those suffering an attack. They then give a preparation known as ergotamine tartrate either by injection into a vein, under the skin, or by mouth. The dose used is that which is just sufficient to relieve the pain. The doctor will determine just what this is.

If sickness to the stomach and vomiting occur after the injection is given into the vein, a product known as atropine is administered. Sometimes, muscular cramps also develop which are relieved by massage. Ergotamine cannot be used in persons who have disorders affecting the arteries. If the attack continues, it may be necessary to give a mixture of glucose and salt solution by injection into the vein.

As a general rule, the physician does not treat an attack of migraine with a narcotic, such as morphine, but a sedative, or quieting drug, may be used with benefit.

Contributing Factors

While the basic over-all cause of migraine has yet to be discovered, it is sometimes possible to find factors which contribute to its occurrence in individual cases. For instance, some persons may be oversensitive to some food. If the foods to which they are sensitive can be found and eliminated from the diet, the attacks may cease.

In certain cases, glandular disturbances such as lack of secretion from the thyroid, the ovaries, or the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, may be factors. Treatment with glandular extracts may therefore be found to be useful.

People afflicted with migraine usually have a high intelligence and are very conscientious. Thus their work is usually of the exacting and responsible kind which brings nervous tension to a height. If these people can avoid strain and emotional upsets, their attacks, in many cases, will be less frequent.

The HOLLOW by Agatha Christie

SYNOPSIS

Among the week-end guests Lady Lucy Angkatell had invited to The Hollow were attractive Dr. John Christow and his dull, plain-looking wife, Gerda. The others, all members of the Angkatell clan, were: Kindly Henrietta Savernake, successful sculptress; young Midge Hardcastle, who supported herself by working in one of London's swank dress shops; David Angkatell, university student, and quiet Edward Angkatell, whose unrequitted love of Henrietta made him unaware that Midge had long adored him. Unknown to anyone, Henrietta and John Christow had fallen deeply in love. Prior to leaving for Lucy's, John sat in his Harley Street office trying to fathom the mood of discontent which engulfed him, while upstairs, Gerda and the children patiently awaited his appearance for lunch. His thoughts went back to an earlier chapter in his life, when he had been madly in love with glamorous Veronica Cray, motion picture actress. He had broken their engagement when she refused to give up her career, and later had married Gerda, whose slavish devotion had left him free to pursue his beloved profession. In Henrietta he had found the intelligent understanding which Gerda lacked. Recently, when exhausted after a difficult session with old Mrs. Crabtree, his favorite clinic patient, he had stopped off at her studio. He was annoyed, however, when he recognized Gerda as the model used for Henrietta's latest masterpiece, The Worshiper. Meanwhile, in the dining room, Gerda contemplated the cooling roast, and the coming week-end, with equal despair. She did not like the Angkatells and felt awkward and uncomfortable in their company. John's arrival banished her unhappy thoughts. While Gerda packed, their small daughter, Zena, insisted on telling John's fortune with cards. When she solemnly announced the queen of hearts still held power over him, he immediately thought of Veronica, whom he had not seen for fifteen years. At The Hollow, Lucy's husband, Sir Henry, chats with Midge about Ainswick, Edward's estate. Henrietta arrived in time for lunch, and later accepts Edward's invitation to take a stroll.

CHAPTER TWELVE

EDWARD'S VOICE changed a little.

"Do you want to be peaceful, Henrietta?"

"Sometimes I think I want to be peaceful more than anything in the world, Edward!"

"You could be peaceful at Ainswick. . . . I think you could be happy there. Even—even if you had to put up with me. What about it, Henrietta? Won't you come to Ainswick and make it your home? It's always been there, you know, waiting for you."

Henrietta turned her head slowly. She said in a low voice:

"I wish I wasn't so dreadfully fond of you, Edward. It makes it so very much harder to go on saying no."

"It is no, then?"

"I'm sorry."

"You've said no before—but this time—well, I thought it might be different. You've been happy this afternoon, Henrietta. You can't deny that."

"I've been very happy."

"Your face even—it's younger than it was this morning."

"I know."

"We've been happy together, talking about Ainswick, thinking about Ainswick. Don't you see what that means, Henrietta?"

"It's you who don't see what it means, Edward! We've been living all this afternoon in the past."

"The past is sometimes a very good place to live."

"One can't go back. That's the one thing one can't do—go back."

He was silent for a minute or two. Then he said in a quiet, pleasant and quite unemotional voice:

"What you really mean is that you won't marry me because of John Christow."

Henrietta did not answer, and Edward went on:

"That's it, isn't it? If there were no John Christow in the world you would marry me."

Henrietta said harshly, "I can't imagine a world in which there was no John Christow! That's what you've got to understand."

"If it's like that, why on earth doesn't the fellow get a divorce from his wife and then you could marry?"

"John doesn't want to get a divorce from his wife. And I don't know that I should want to marry John if he did. It isn't—it isn't the least like you think."

Edward said in a thoughtful, considering way:

"John Christow. . . . There are too many John Christows in this world . . ."

"You're wrong," said Henrietta. "There are very few people like John . . ."

"If that's so—it's a good thing! At least, that's what I think!"

He got up. "We'd better go back again."

As they got into the car and Lewis shut the front door of the Harley Street house, Gerda felt the pang of exile go through her. That shut door was so final. She was barred out—this awful weekend was upon her. And there were things, quite a lot of things, that she ought to have done before leaving. Had she turned off that tap in the bathroom? And that note for the laundry—she'd put it—where had she put it? Would the children be all right with Mademoiselle? Mademoiselle was so—so— Would Terence, for instance, ever do anything that Mademoiselle told him to? French governesses never seemed to have any authority.

She got into the driving seat, still bowed down by misery, and nervously pressed the starter. She pressed it again and again. John said, "The car will start better, Gerda, if you switch on the engine."

"Oh, dear, how stupid of me." She shot a quick alarmed glance at him. If John was going to be annoyed straight away— But to her relief he was smiling.

That's because, thought Gerda, with one of her flashes of acumen, he's so pleased to be going to the Angkatells'.

Poor John, he worked so hard! His life was so unselfish, so completely devoted to others. No wonder he looked forward to this long week-end. And, her mind harking back to the conversation at lunch, she said, as she let in the clutch rather too suddenly so that the car leaped forward from the curb:

"You know, John, you really shouldn't make jokes about hating sick people. It's wonderful of you to make light of all you do, and I understand. But the children don't. Terry, in particular, has such a very literal mind."

"There are times," said John Christow, "when Terry seems to me almost human—not like Zena! How long do girls go on being a mass of affectation?"

Gerda gave a little, quite sweet laugh. John, she knew, was teasing her. She stuck to her point. Gerda had an adhesive mind.

"I really think, John, that it's good for children to realize the unselfishness and devotion of a doctor's life."

"Oh Lord!" said Christow.

Gerda was momentarily deflected. The traffic lights she was approaching had been green for a long time. They were almost sure, she thought, to change before she got to them. She began to slow down. . . . Still green.

John Christow forgot his resolutions of keeping silent about Gerda's driving and said, "What are you stopping for?"

"I thought the lights might change—"

She pressed her foot on the accelerator, the car moved forward a little, just beyond the lights, then, unable to pick up, the engine stalled. The lights changed.

The cross trafic hooted angrily. John said, but quite pleasantly: "You really are the worst driver in the world, Gerda!"

"I always find traffic lights so worrying. One doesn't know just when they are going to change."

John cast a quick sideways look at Gerda's anxious, unhappy face.

Everything worries Gerda, he thought, and tried to imagine what it must feel like to live in that state. But since he was not a man of much imagination, he could not picture it at all.

"You see," Gerda stuck to her point, "I've always impressed on the children just what a doctor's life is—the self-sacrifice, the dedication of oneself to helping pain and suffering—the desire to serve others. It's such a noble life—and I'm so proud of the way you give your time and energy and never spare yourself—"

John Christow interrupted her.

"Hasn't it ever occurred to you that I like doctoring—that it's a pleasure, not a sacrifice! Don't you realize that the blamed thing's interesting!"

But no, he thought, Gerda would never realize a thing like that! If he told her about Mrs. Crabtree and the Margaret Russell Ward she would only see him as a kind of angelic helper of the Poor with a capital P.

"Drowning in treacle," he said under his breath.

"What?" Gerda leaned toward him.

He shook his head.

If he were to tell Gerda that he was trying to "find a cure for cancer," she would respond—she could understand a plain sentimental statement. But she would never understand the peculiar fascination of the intricacies of Ridgeway's disease—he doubted if he could ever make her understand what Ridgeway's disease actually was. (Particularly, he thought with a grin, as we're not really quite sure ourselves! We don't really know why the cortex degenerates!)

But it occurred to him suddenly that Terence, child though he was, might be interested in Ridgeway's disease. He had liked the way that Terence had eyed him appraisingly before stating: "I think Father does mean it."

Terence had been out of favor the last few days for breaking the Cona coffee machine—some nonsense about trying to make ammonia. . . . Ammonia? Funny kid, why should he want to make ammonia? Interesting in a way.

Gerda was relieved at John's silence. She could cope with driving better if she were not distracted by conversation. Besides, if John was absorbed in thought, he was not so likely to notice that jarring noise of her occasional forced changes of gear.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, July 10

THE indications are for an exceptional, possibly dramatic opportunity for advancement, progress, preferment and all forms and tactics for materializing the fondest hopes and wishes. There should be a united and concentrated marshalling of all talents, resources and faculties on this goal, which should not be in any measure complicated by unwise conduct, which might offend and negative, friendly cooperation. Courtesy, finesse, possibly a bit of connivance might advance business and romantic happiness.

Birthday Forecast

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of outstanding prosperity, progress and fulfillments of high goals and objectives, if they will attack openings with concentrated skill, ingenuity and faculties, also forethought. A social or business error, careless disagreement, or lack of a sense of duty, in personal or business life, might exact penalties. Work on old and new propositions with tact, courtesy, and graciousness, even with a dash of compromise or subtle collusion, should such be of sound value.

A child born on this day has excellent prospects of a progressive and happy life.

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONDONING AN OFFENSE

THERE ARE many kinds of situations in which it is wise to condone an irregularity of bidding, leading or playing by an opponent. Since none of them occurs very often, however, few players ever think seriously of condoning them, but prefer one of the several other options, which impose penalties for the offense. One time that condoning may be wise is when an opponent has made an insufficient bid. If you have a rebiddable suit in a none-too-strong hand, this affords you a chance to rebid it at a lower level than if you insisted on the irregular bid being made sufficient.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥
Pass	2 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

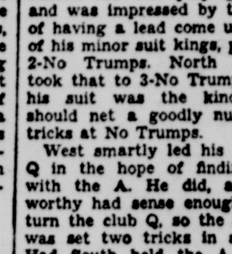

Notice West's insufficient bid of 2-Diamonds on the second round over the 2-Spades by South, who might better have bid 2-No Trumps then. Under the Laws, West's left-hand opponent, North, had the option of condoning the insufficiency or obligig West to make his bid sufficient. He selected the option of condoning it, so that he could rebid his hearts at a low enough level to allow his side plenty of space for more bidding. By doing this, he enabled his partner to know that his suit was of at least five cards and that three little ones would be adequate support.

At this stage, South's best bid would have been 3-Hearts, which North would have taken to game in that suit. But South, who fancies his own playing ability, and was impressed by the value of having a lead come up to one of his minor suit kings, preferred 2-No Trumps. North properly took that to 3-No Trumps, since his suit was the kind which should net a goodly number of tricks at No Trumps.

West smartly led his diamond Q in the hope of finding East with the A. He did, and that worthy had sense enough to return the club Q, so the contract was set two tricks in a hurry. Had South held the A of one minor and the K in the other, that could not have been done to him, but with kings in both his bid was highly risky. He had a further good reason for preferring hearts, his diamond doubleton. Game in hearts would have been easy.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

What phase of the Blackwood convention is vital to North and South on this deal in bidding which shows the fitting diamond suit, but makes 5-No Trumps the desirable contract?

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The speed with which American industry is working to catch up with war-inspired deficiencies is clearly evident in government reports, which show about 10 billion dollars have been added to the book-value of business inventories since the middle of 1946.

The increase reflects both higher costs and greater physical stocks. Business inventories, however, are reported still below pre-war levels in relation to sales.

Inadequate stocks in some areas are said to more than offset a few surpluses elsewhere.

The Commerce department adds that the present almost-feverish attempt to fill the gap in supplies cannot be expected to continue long because remaining deficiencies are, in general, much less urgent than a few months ago.

● SCOTCH TO GO DOWN?—Scotch whisky prices are due for a tumble. Much of the impending decline is traceable to the recent arrival of 2,500,000 fifths from Great Britain.

Prices already had dropped from $10 and $12 last Christmas to $6 and under—due principally to consumer resistance—but the new shipment held out the prospect of further reductions.

To make the prediction stick, Great Britain said that it planned to step up its Scotch production to obtain more American dollars for badly needed foreign exchange.

Another factor was the plight of many liquor dealers who were caught with high-priced Scotch and now find the market about to be glutted with new supplies.

● AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR is not only worried about the high cost of living but is issuing storm warnings of an economic collapse.

In a survey of economic trends the AFL bluntly charges that "cheerful news from the business front today obscures what is actually happening."

It contends that despite an all-time peak in employment and the fact that the country is still riding the crest of the prosperity wave there are signs of trouble ahead.

The labor organization says that an analysis shows that the boom is being carried along by huge exports and by expanding use of consumer credit. It declares:

"Lasting prosperity with high levels of employment and production depends on a huge demand for industry's products. Such demand must be supported by something more than loans to nations abroad and to consumers at home.

"Yet this year almost half of the 19 billion dollars' worth of exports our country will send abroad will be paid for by United States loans to foreign countries. And at home American consumers are already borrowing three billions more than last year to pay for their purchases—an increase of 44 per cent.

● VITAMINS TO SET PRICES—The Agriculture department predicts that vegetables and meats will be priced not by the pound but by their nutritive value, if markets continue to develop the transparent packaging of food.

Agriculture points out that in this type of packaging, vegetables are given a preliminary cleaning and sorting. Damaged ones generally come to light and are discarded. Meats are trimmed.

Cellophane And Food Marketing

The department argues that, therefore, one pound of string beans in cellophane may well be worth two pounds in bulk. It predicts that the next step will be pricing that takes this greater volume into consideration.

Agriculture, which long has had an eye for attractive packaging of foods, says that this labeling of transparently-wrapped foods may step up quality.

It argues that wholesalers and distributors will have pride to uphold and thus handle the foods with more care.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITISH CHEER PRINCESS AFTER BETROTHAL TOLD

Wedding Of Elizabeth To Former Greek Prince Expected In Fall

LONDON, July 10 — Princess Elizabeth of Britain, wearing an engagement ring of dazzling diamonds, was cheered wildly today when she appeared in public for the first time following announcement of her engagement to wed.

Her fiance, Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, was not present when she drove with King George VI and Queen Elizabeth from Buckingham palace at noon to take part in a memorial commemoration at Westminster abbey.

Although the young naval lieutenant did not accompany her it was learned that the couple posed for official engagement pictures in the bow room of Buckingham palace earlier and both were depicted as radiantly happy.

* * *

ON HER VISIT to the abbey the princess wore a coffee colored suit with matching hat and brown and white shoes.

With the king, queen and princess were Queen Mother Mary, Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, Prime Minister Attlee and cabinet members as well as members of the diplomatic service.

Buckingham palace's private post office was overwhelmed with congratulatory letters and additional clerks were called in to handle the mail and telegrams addressed to Elizabeth and the former prince Philip of Greece.

* * *

PALACE OFFICIALS emphasized that the marriage date, the honeymoon itinerary and the question of a title for Lieut. Mountbatten all are unsettled, but it seemed probable that the marriage will be in the Fall.

Authoritative sources said Elizabeth will retain the surname of Windsor and that any children will be princes and princesses of the royal house of Windsor.

Court circles indicated that Elizabeth's wedding gown will be classical, with a long train woven of all-British material and having a priceless veil of Point de Flandres lace loaned by Queen Mother Mary, the same the princess' mother wore in 1923.

The British public rejoiced over the formal announcement of the long-expected engagement.

HIGHLIGHT of today is expected to come when the princess appears with Lieut. Mountbatten at a garden party at Buckingham palace which will be attended by 10,000 persons during the afternoon.

The couple is expected to appear on a balcony of the palace in the evening to receive open congratulations of the people of London.

Public reaction generally was that the engagement formalized a true love match between the princess and the royal navy lieutenant who for some time have been known to share great affection for each other.

Lieut. Mountbatten recently gave up his rights as a Greek prince to become a British citizen.

Speculation was that the 21-year-old princess and 26-year-old Lieut. Mountbatten will wed by Autumn. There were varying reports that the couple might journey to Canada and even to the United States on their honeymoon.

CASE AGAINST MISS RIFE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Decision in the case against Miss Mae Kathryn Rife, 28, Walnut township, was taken under advisement by Judge William D. Radcliff, Wednesday afternoon, following a one-day trial in Pickaway county common pleas court.

From the witness chair Miss Rife denied the testimony offered by several state's witnesses that on the morning of last May 17 she drove more than 60 miles an hour on Main street in Ashville. The grand jury on June 13 indicted her on counts of reckless driving and resisting arrest.

Miss Rife allegedly resisted when Constable Paul Wellington, Ashville, went to her farm home to take her into custody on the reckless driving charge.

-and Ability to match

GIVE yourself five seconds, and you know that here's car styling as up to the minute as the time of day.

Spend a few fast minutes to see why – and you spot both smartness right from tomorrow's designing boards and everything that should go with it.

Measure the reach and spread of that Buick bonnet, brim-filled with Fireball power.

Sweep your glance over the broad beam that spells room, the stretch that means easy-riding wheelbase, the size that tells of enough roadweight to end jounce and jitter.

Here, you tell yourself, is something to see. Here are looks to hold the eye for seasons to come – and lively, durable ability to match:

. . . Rich abundance of smooth, hushed Fireball horsepower from a straight-eight kept young and lively by Accurite cylinder finish.

. . . Tireless coil springing on all four wheels, leveling all roads to boulevard smoothness.

. . . Riding poise from two steadying tons of roadweight – ease of handling from balance to draw a ballet dancer's envy. Soft, roomy cushions seating three apiece – finish that's the very last word in richness and taste.

Yes, it takes no time at all to show that you and Buick belong together, should go together steady – so what's holding you back?

After all, we can't do much about getting one to you till you make your wishes plain. You do that simply by placing your order – which will get equal consideration whether or not you have a car to trade.

ASHVILLE REDS SET TO SCORE WIN ON SUNDAY

League Leaders Hitting .308 As Team; Tracey, Ankrom Leading Players

Ashville Reds, sponsors, manager, players and fans, promised Thursday that Chillicothe Mead Papermakers will take a licking Sunday when they play a South Central Ohio Baseball league game Sunday against the Reds.

Very much upset over losing at Chillicothe July 4 and then being rained out last Sunday, the Reds are in a frame of mind to win by a large score this Sunday when the Papermakers visit Ashville Community park.

Manager Carl Gulick said Mark Wylie definitely would start and he would be trying his best to beat the Chillicotheans after being credited with the loss as a relief hurler last Friday.

Don Pollard, slow lefthander who did a pretty good job of stopping the Reds at Chillicothe, is expected to oppose Ashville Sunday. Other possible pitchers are "Chuck" Brown, Roy Bartlett and Harold Stout.

BOB TRACEY is leading the Ashville hitter, according to latest figures. He is batting .457. At bat 46 times he had 21 hits, 26 total bases, 11 runs batted in, has scored 15 and has stolen eight bases.

"Snapper" Ankrom has the highest RBI mark, sending 24 runs across the plate. At bat 43 times he has 19 hits, 32 total bases, .442 average, has 14 runs and nine stolen bases.

Other regulars on the team have these marks: Wally Noon, 38 times up, 14 hits, 21 total bases, .368 average, 10 RBI, 10 runs; Carl Gulick, 43, 13, 15, .289, 9, 10, 6; H. Gulick, 38, 10, 14, .263, 7, 14, 4; Jay Gregg, 41, 10, 11, .244, 6, 7 3; Glen Belcher 29, 5, 6, .172, 1, 6, 2; Harper, 32 7, 14, .225, 1, 7 2.

Team batting average is .308.

GRACE LENCZYK FAVORED IN WOMEN'S GOLF PLAY

COLUMBUS O., July 10—Grace Lenczyk, tournament medalist from Arnold college, and pig-tailed Rosann Shaffer of Toledo and Rollins college clashed today in the featured semi-final of the women's national college golf championships at Columbus.

In the opposite bracket of the championship flight, Shirley Spork of Michigan state normal and Carol Clark of Miami university met in the other semi-final match.

RAIN AGAIN TROUBLES HARNESS MEN AT MARION

MARION, O., July 10 — Clear skies were fervently hoped for today by Marion trotting association officials following the second little grand circuit postponement of the week last night.

Rain and muddy track forced last night's program to be shifted to tonight. Feature of the card is the 2:26 trot Berlou stake.

TRIPLE BILL TO START AT 7:15

Band Concert, Donkey Ball Game, League Contest Planned At Park

Everything was set Thursday morning for a big evening at Ted Lewis park—if the weatherman does not spoil the setup.

Wednesday evening's rain washed out the scheduled Night Softball league game between Mumaw's Market and VFW but workmen were busy putting the field in shape for Thursday night. If there is no rain this evening the three-fold program will go on as scheduled.

At 7:15 the newly-organized community band will play its first concert. Regular league game between Blue Ribbon and Richards Implement is set for 8 p. m. Following this Rotary and Kiwanis club members will mount mules to play a donkey baseball game.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S double feature program has been changed. At 8 p. m. Isaly's and Tarlton will play a regular league game. Following this contest, at about 9 p. m., Richards Implement will meet Portsmouth Ramey Feeds. The Portsmouth team substitutes for 740 AC, which is playing in Columbus Friday night and cannot be here. The Portsmouth club is one of the better teams in Portsmouth and feature Paul Suter, pitcher, who did a good job in the district tournament at Chillicothe last year.

Saturday night another double bill is offered. At 9 p. m. Mumaw's Market is scheduled to meet Borean Meadowbrook, one of the leaders in the Columbus independent league. Some of the leading players on the capital city club are Junie Scase, Rex "Dee Dee" Sellen, Al Mussio and Don Gearon. At 8 p. m. Drake's Produce will play a Springfield team.

PELLICLE SETS RECORD

CHICAGO, July 10 — Horse followers today hailed Hal Price Headley's fleet colt, Pellicle, for a record-breaking run to victory in the $25,000 Grassland handicap at Arlington park. The sleek 4-year-old set a new American turf course record and a new park mark in winning the mile and three-sixteenths event yesterday in 1:56. The time was two fifths of a second better than the American mark set by Put In at Washington park in 1943 and three fifths better than the Arlington record established by Frere Jacques last year.

LEADERS IN AA REMAIN SAME; DIVIDE GAMES

By International News Service

The American Association race virtually was marking time today.

Both league leading Kansas City and second place Louisville broke even in last night's efforts, while the circuit's other pair of scheduled contests was rained out.

Kansas City took care of some unfinished business by winning a three-inning replay of part of the protested June 7 game with Indianapolis, 3 to 2. The game was protested because Umpire Pat Padden allowed Butch Moran, injured Indian first sacker, to be tagged out although the game had been halted to administer first aid to the player.

The Blues won the original game, 7 to 2, but had to be satisfied with a one-run margin last night.

Indianapolis was more successful in the regularly scheduled game, defeating the Blues, 6 to 2, as Bob Malloy scattered eight hits for his seventh victory.

Glenn Elliott pitched Milwaukee to an 8-to-3 win over Louisville in a seven-inning opener, but the Colonels won the second half of a twin bill, 7 to 3. Jack Griffore was the winner.

Rain postponed games between St. Paul and Toledo and Minneapolis and Columbus.

WRITER SEES WESTERN TEAM

California Towns Will Be In Majors Soon, Corum Believes

NEW YORK, July 10 — The straws in the baseball wind these days blow toward the West. If that sounds a trifle over fancy and also on the cryptic side, all I'm saying is that slowly but very surely the day approaches when, at least, Los Angeles and San Francisco will have big league ball teams. And it may be sooner than you think.

There was a personable gentleman named Leonard J. Roach around the all-star game headquarters in Chicago on Monday and Tuesday, who talked the way the writer has been talking for five years about the major league situation.

That is, that a league of teams that extends no further than the Mississippi river is neither a National League, nor an American league.

THE IMPORTANT difference in Roach's argument and my more or less perennial one is that he had something with which to back up his talk. Namely, the support of every civic organization in Los Angeles, and the proffer of a ready made major league park that will seat 100,000 fans — the Los Angeles coliseum.

Not to pick on Richard Muckerman's St. Louis Browns but simply to make the strongest possible argument, permit me to cite a few figures to prove how financially unsound the present big league set-up is.

Muckerman, a new owner, has been pouring money into his baseball properties in a way that would indicate that he gets his money out of a well.

All told, I understand that Muckerman has spent upwards of $600,000 building new stands for his team in the Texas league and renovating old Sportsman's park.

FOR ALL THIS progressive and hustling policy on the part of the new owner, listen to the size of three crowds the Browns have drawn in their home park this season. They opened the season before a rousing turnout of approximately 8,000. They played a Fourth of July doubleheader with Detroit before around 9,000 and for one night game — night game, mind you—they drew all of 3,000 lost souls.

That constitutes a total of approximately 20,000 customers for three important ball games. Had the present St. Louis Browns been the L. A. Browns and playing the coliseum, however, it is reasonable to guess that those three same dates would have brought out a quarter of a million fans.

MARE RETURNS $129.60 IN MAYWOOD PARK RACE

CHICAGO, July 10—The highest betting price of the current Maywood park harness racing program was recorded today.

It was returned by Jenny Rector, a seven-year-old mare driven by Bill Albers, Mulberry Grove, Ill., last night in a mile event, when she paid $129.60, $30.40 and $16.40.

In the featured eighth race, Diane Scot, driven by Elmer Guernsey, Mankato, Minn., drove past Hi-Lo's Faith and Belladale for the victory.

GAME POSTPONED

Intermediate softball league game between First EUB church and Isaly's Juniors, scheduled for 6 p. m. Friday, has been postponed. All members of the church team are asked to report at the church at 5 p. m. to go to Chillicothe to play a game there. Rain washed out Wednesday evening's league game.

CASE SELECTED

CHICAGO, July 10 — Ernie Case, U. C. L. A.'s deft T-man, was the first quarterback selected today for the College All-Stars squad which will meet the Chicago Bears of the National Football league in Soldiers Field Aug. 22.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

No one here really knows anything to do about the open Communist obstructionist revolution, except this. War is unthinkable. You cannot appease a revolution. You cannot even appease a Communist, except by destroying yourself for him. Little is seen or heard about Henry Wallace or James Roosevelt around the state department. The Marshall crowd does not even stop to criticize them. on the other side, Messrs. Truman, Stassen, et al, know that as soon as the subject of more money than the nearly $20 billion already gone abroad is officially raised, the isolationists will break loose from their moorings behind the bipartisan foreign policy and streak questions across the skies. The administrationists rather think Marshall, the leveler, may be their best bet and are inclined to let him have his head for a while. They would like to steal the show from the Republicans by something new and sensational, but they fear the hornets' nest, suspecting it may descend on them anyway in some unexpected European collapse, even if they do not molest it.

About all this, Senator Taft has been rather angrily determine there shall be no special session of congress or prolongation of this session. In fact about the only soul which dared peep about a special session has been that of Hatch of New Mexico, and everyone ignored him. Taft says something about not taking executive responsibilities. Congress overwhelmingly wants to clean up current loose ends and get out this month for rest. Mr. Truman might recall it in October. But Taft is going to exercise the wartime privilege congress accorded itself to reassemble itself if situations warrant before January.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

SENATE SLATE TO ACT ON NEW SUGAR MEASURE

Bill To Maintain Control On Price Given Okay By Committee

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate was expected to give early consideration to a bill to continue the sugar control act for five years from next December 31, expiration date of the existing law.

The bill, which calls for quotas from domestic producers and imports, was approved Wednesday by the senate finance committee.

The secretary of agriculture is authorized by the legislation to determine domestic sugar needs one year in advance as a basis for quotas.

• • •

HE IS REQUIRED to "attempt" to maintain present relationships between wholesale prices for refined sugar and the general cost of living index.

Under the bill, U. S. producing areas would have a normal quota of four million, 268 thousand short tons divided as follows:

Domestic beet sugar, one billion 800 million tons; mainland cane sugar, 500,000 tons; Hawaii, one million 52 thousand tons; Puerto Rico, 910,000; Virgin Islands, 6,000, while the Philippines would have a fixed quota of 952,000 short tons. The remainder of the quota would come from Cuba and other countries, Cuba supplying 98.64 of the balance.

COUNTY WILL SHARE IN STATE ROAD PROJECTS

Several miles of state highways in Pickaway county, listed in four out of six proposals for road improvements in Pickaway, Madison and Fayette counties, are included in approximately 200 miles of roadways in 27 counties to be offered July 22 in the State Office building at Columbus by the State Highway Department for repair bids at an estimated total cost of $400,000.

The offer specifies bituminous treatment and stipulates October 1 as the completion date. The highway improvements indicated for Pickaway county are: 1.16 miles of State Route 762 in Scioto township, 2.09 miles of Route 762 in Scioto and Harrison township, 1.20 miles of Route 762 in Scioto township, and 6.39 miles of State Route 70, partly in Perry township.

FIRE COMPANY MASCOT ATTENDS FIRE, HAS PUPS

CHICAGO, July 10—Considering all things, it was quite a busy day for Bum, the mascot of Chicago fire company 103.

In addition to answering alarms, Bum managed to give birth to six puppies.

The dog had been ordered leashed by company officers, but when an alarm sounded, Bum broke loose and leaped on the truck. Her first off-spring was born yesterday while firemen were extinguishing the blaze with handpumps.

When the fire was out, the company sped back to the enginehouse where the other five pups were born.

Britain's entrant in the American vocalist sweepstakes, beautiful Beryl Davis, will be introduced to the U. S. radio audience for the first time by Vaughn Monroe on his musical variety show Saturday. Miss Davis is currently making her first public appearance in this country with Monroe's show at the New York Strand Theater. Critics hailed her as a refreshing personality, with fine voice and style. The singing maestro will achieve another first on the same program with the radio premiere of the new tune, "Kokomo, Indiana".

Walter Tetley, who is heard as "Leroy" on "The Great Gildersleeve" and its Summer substitute "Summerfield Band Concert", is now conducting a class in public speaking at the Summer session of the Van Nuys (Calif.) high school.

Two well known radio actors have been added to the "Perry Mason" show heard weekday afternoons. They are Craig McDonald, who is portraying the role of Political Boss Madison K. Ware, and James Van Dyk, who is heard as the shyster lawyer McCready.

Texas Society of New York City is planning a big get together for Vaughn Monroe and the many Texans in his aggregation upon his return to the Big Town late this month. Four of the Moon Maids and the Stroud Twins are from the Lone Star state.

A new record for the number of contestants quizzed was established by Phil Baker recently when, at Los Alamitos Navy Air Station, "Take It Or Leave It" brought nine people before the microphone. Four won $64 each; the others failed.

Arthur ("Dagwood") Lake, of the Sunday "Blondie" show, doesn't think that a radio device that sends a million words a minute is anything new; women, comments Dagwood, for years have been talking faster than that!

Bob Stanton, featured baritone on "Village Store," signed by Walt Disney for a combined live action feature and cartoon titled "How Dear To My Heart." Spot vacated by "Take It Or Leave It" to be filled by "Reporter At Large" effective September 28. John Hightower, sportsman and outdoor writer, returned to "Fishing and hunting Club of the Air" as a regular member of the panel of experts June 23. Don Lee's "Queen For A Day" program to pick a "King For A Day" on July 4.

The Modernaires will broadcast their ten weekly sponsored programs from Hollywood. James Mason to guest on Fred Allen's last show of the season Sunday. "Saturday Night Serenade" currently heard at 9:30-10 P. M. switches to 10-10:30 P. M. starting July 5. Professor Quiz to be aired for the rest of the Summer from New York. Debut of "Wee Wags," new program featuring witty sayings of children, delayed a second time. Harry Wismer to handle play by play description of All-Star football game from Soldiers' Field in Chicago to be aired over Mutual on August 22.

The first organized women's police force was formed in Adelaide, South Australia, in 1915. It comprsied two women. Within 12 months Tasmania followed its lead, and New South Wales and Victoria followed soon afterward. Some years later inquiries were received from New York and Scotland Yard, and it is claimed that their women police forces were modeled on the South Australia system.

In the streets of Singapore, automobiles used to dash through fast in hope of escaping dents made by a two or three-pound cocoanut falling 100 feet from any one of the city's thousands of palm trees.

Wife Preservers

Fasten the front edge of fresh shelf paper with long strips of Scotch tape. You can use colored tape to match your color scheme, if you wish. This prevents tearing, keeps the paper flat, and will stand hard wear. It is also easy to remove when you want to change papers.

GRAB BAG

One-Minute Test

1. Who was the author of the song which begins, "Drink to me only with thine eyes"?
2. Who was the author of the lines, "And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law"? What is the name of the poem in which it appears?
3. Who described his wife in these words, "Trusty, dusky, vivid, true"?

Words of Wisdom

The soundest argument will produce no more conviction in an empty head than the most superficial declamation; a feather and a guinea fall with equal velocity in a vacuum.—Colton.

Hints on Etiquette

Courteousness makes as good an impression in the business world as it does in the social sphere. Even if you must write a dunning letter, you are likely to meet with better results if the missive is tactful and courteous.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, you should cultivate and acquire more self-confidence. You are conscientious and trustworthy in carrying out another's plans, but hesitant and indeterminate in your own. You are kind, gentle, sympathetic and understanding and love deeply. This is a good day, so make hay while the sun shines. Accomplishment will probably be followed by a period of waiting. Indications are for expansion. Apart from some disappointment or disillusionment through unrequited love on the part of lover, spouse or friend, your next year will be an excellent one. Today's child will be ambitious, enterprising, industrious, tenacious, inventive, original, affectionate, generous and high-souled, but threatened with sorrow through deception; otherwise, outstanding good fortune is portended.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Ben Jonson.
2. Alfred Tennyson; Locksley Hall.
3. Robert Louis Stevenson.

It is hard for an empty bag to stand upright.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

No one here really knows anything to do about the open Communist obstructionist revolution, except this. War is unthinkable. You cannot appease a revolution. You cannot even appease a Communist, except by destroying yourself for him. Little is seen or heard about Henry Wallace or James Roosevelt around the state department. The Marshall crowd does not even stop to criticize them, on the other side, Messrs. Truman, Stassen, et al, know that as soon as the subject of more money than the nearly $20 billion already gone abroad is officially raised, the isolationists will break loose from their moorings behind the bipartisan foreign policy and streak questions across the skies. The administrationists rather think Marshall, the leveler, may be their best bet and are inclined to let him have his head for a while. They would like to steal the show from the Republicans by something new and sensational, but they fear the hornets' nest, suspecting it may descend on them anyway in some unexpected European collapse, even if they do not molest it.

About all this, Senator Taft has been rather angrily determine there shall be no special session of congress or prolongation of this session. In fact about the only soul which dared peep about a special session has been that of Hatch of New Mexico, and everyone ignored him. Taft says something about not taking executive responsibilities. Congress overwhelmingly wants to clean up current loose ends and get out this month for rest. Mr. Truman might recall it in October. But Taft is going to exercise the wartime privilege congress accorded itself to reassemble itself if situations warrant before January.

SENATE SLATED TO ACT ON NEW SUGAR MEASURE

Bill To Maintain Control On Price Given Okay By Committee

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The senate was expected to give early consideration to a bill to continue the sugar control act for five years from next December 31, expiration date of the existing law.

The bill, which calls for quotas from domestic producers and imports, was approved Wednesday by the senate finance committee.

The secretary of agriculture is authorized by the legislation to determine domestic sugar needs one year in advance as a basis for quotas.

HE IS REQUIRED to "attempt" to maintain present relationships between wholesale prices for refined sugar and the general cost of living index.

Under the bill, U. S. producing areas would have a normal quota of four million, 268 thousand short tons divided as follows:

Domestic beet sugar, one billion 800 million tons; mainland cane sugar, 500,000 tons; Hawaii, one million 52 thousand tons; Puerto Rico, 910,000; Virgin Islands, 6,000, while the Philippines would have a fixed quota of 952,000 short tons. The remainder of the quota would come from Cuba and other countries, Cuba supplying 98.64 of the balance.

FIRE COMPANY MASCOT ATTENDS FIRE, HAS PUPS

CHICAGO, July 10—Considering all things, it was quite a busy day for Bum, the mascot of Chicago fire company 103.

In addition to answering alarms, Bum managed to give birth to six puppies.

The dog had been ordered leashed by company officers, but when an alarm sounded, Bum broke loose and leaped on the truck. Her first off-spring was born yesterday while firemen were extinguishing the blaze with handpumps.

When the fire was out, the company sped back to the enginehouse where the other five pups were born.

GRAB BAG

One-Minute Test

1. Who was the author of the song which begins, "Drink to me only with thine eyes"?
2. Who was the author of the lines, "And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law"? What is the name of the poem in which it appears?
3. Who described his wife in these words, "Trusty, dusky, vivid, true"?

Words of Wisdom

The soundest argument will produce no more conviction in an empty head than the most superficial declamation; a feather and a guinea fall with equal velocity in a vacuum.—Colton.

Hints on Etiquette

Courteousness makes as good an impression in the business world as it does in the social sphere. Even if you must write a dunning letter, you are likely to meet with better results if the missive is tactful and courteous.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, you should cultivate and acquire more self-confidence. You are conscientious and trustworthy in carrying out another's plans, but hesitant and indeterminate in your own. You are kind, gentle, sympathetic and understanding and love deeply. This is a good day, so make hay while the sun shines. Accomplishment will probably be followed by a period of waiting. Indications are for expansion. Apart from some disappointment or disillusionment through unrequited love on the part of lover, spouse or friend, your next year will be an excellent one. Today's child will be ambitious, enterprising, industrious, tenacious, inventive, original, affectionate, generous and high-souled, but threatened with sorrow through deception; otherwise, outstanding good fortune is portended.

One-Minute Test Answers
